Worldly Cynicism Decadent Morale Scored by Church

Protestant Leaders Meet to Plan Program for Social and Moral Uprising

Columbus, O., March 5 (AP)—Five hundred religious leaders representing 25,000,000 of the nation's Protestant Church-goers convened here today in a special meeting to create what one leader termed new morale for a confused and cynical world.

The Executive Committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America called the council into session on a recently-adopted resolution citing the need "to deal with the needs of the postwar era, especially in the areas of evangelism, world order, community tensions, foreign relief and returning service personnel."

Dr. Roswell P. Barnes, acting general secretary of the council, told newsmen in a pre-conference interview that the meeting here must start building a new morale without which "cynicism deepens and there is danger of further social and individual confusion."

"Today is a more critical time than the closing months of the war," he told newsmen last night. "Individual discipline and community cooperation are needed now more than ever."

"Our concerns at this special meeting are sharply reflected in the news of the day," he added, citing:

Juvenile delinquency, housing for veterans, more food for Europe, race riots in Tennessee, production stoppages in basic industries, disagreement among the United Nations, and the uncertainty caused by the possibility of atomic warfare.

"This meeting was called," he explained, "as the most comprehensive strategy board of the American churches, to revise the churches' programs to help meet these current problems."

Truman to Speak
President Harry S. Truman will address the council tomorrow on "The Place of Religion in American Democracy."

Ticket Speculations
New York, March 5 (AP)—Eight men arrested yesterday on charges of speculating in tickets after police had to keep a crowd of basketball fans in order at Madison Square Garden were paroled today for trial in special sessions. The men appeared in Manhattan Magistrate's Court, arrested term, before Magistrate Vernon C. Riddick. It was alleged that they had purchased tickets to a series of collegiate basketball games later this month and resold them immediately at excessive prices.

Soviet Maneuvers
Chungking, March 5 (AP)—The Chinese Central News Agency said today that Soviet authorities in Manchuria announced they will conduct sham battles at Changchun, Harbin, Dairen and other Soviet garrison areas soon. The dispatch from Chungking, the Manchurian capital, said the Soviets had notified the Chinese military delegation there of the maneuvers, but did not specify the dates.

Police Told They May Put up Desperate Fight If Cornered; Were In For Long Terms

Search for two of three convicts who escaped from Wallkill Medium Security Prison some time Sunday evening between the routine 7:45 and 9:45 o'clock check, was still being continued today over a wide area following the capture of one of the three men at Schenectady Monday. The three men escaped by means of a rope to scale the wall.

All three men were serving long terms and police officers who are conducting the search have been warned that the men may put up a desperate battle if cornered.

The first of the felons to be captured was ex-paratrooper Charles Bradley Langford, 22, a native of South Carolina who was serving a term of from eight to 15 years under a robbery, second degree, conviction from Schenectady county. Langford was convicted of the crime while still in the service. He was taken by Schenectady detectives and State Troopers in a hotel room in Schenectady following an anonymous tip. At the time he was taken Langford was suspected of having been involved in a hit and run fatality in Schenectady at 3:15 a. m., when Charles H. Hogan, 38, of 417 Union street was struck and killed at Union and Clinton streets. Hogan was a former employee of the American Locomotive Company and had been discharged from service in the army in October. Later Langford was absolved of the act when he told police he had abandoned the car, which was stolen from Joseph Morris at Wallkill, in Albany and had taken a taxi to the Schenectady hotel.

The first alarm was sounded when Joseph Morris of Wallkill notified State Police at Highland that his car had been stolen. At 9:25 o'clock Morris called the State Police telling them his 1941 Plymouth club coupe, license 8D4387 had been taken from in front of his home. He said he had seen three men about the car and as he saw the car being backed into a driveway he shouted to the men and gave chase. He reached the car just as one of the three men drove off. The other two disappeared in a nearby woods. Mr. Morris suffered injuries to his hand as he attempted to catch hold of the door handle and the

Charge Russians Sought Data on U. S. Troop Moves

New Canadian Espionage Report Discloses That Soviets Wanted News of Specific Units

Ottawa, March 5 (AP)—Additional reports by the Royal Commission investigating alleged Russian espionage in Canada were expected today to be released soon, possibly this week, disclosing new names of persons involved and further particulars of information the Commission said was sought by Soviet agents.

The commissioners said the list of data contained in yesterday's interim report was not to be considered exhaustive but merely typical of information they said the Russians wanted concerning atomic bomb secrets, radar and troop movements.

There was considerable puzzlement here at the commission's statement that Soviet agents had been instructed to obtain information relative to U. S. troop movements, particularly with reference to a score of specific units.

Sought Re-check
In most cases it was information which had been published both in America and abroad and broadcast by radio. The data was posted on situation maps in Army headquarters throughout Germany and was available to Russian observers who worked at Army level with American armed forces.

Official Ottawa speculated, meanwhile, over the import of the commission's parting statement: "Many other agents were active and information more intrinsically important has been disclosed. The evidence has not been fully developed."

Four of 13 persons being held were named and charged in police court yesterday.

Former New Jersey Governor Delivers Witty Talk Before First Annual Dinner; Chamber Officials' Figures Reflect Growth of Group

In a dynamic, refreshing talk that was a continuous flow of wit, humor, cleverly phrased local and personal allusions, all without a sting, interspersed with wise reflections and suggestions, Lt. Col. Harold G. Hoffman, former governor of New Jersey, won unanimous acclaim and unstinted praise from the audience of 250 that filled the two dining halls at the Governor Clinton Hotel Monday night.

The occasion was the first annual dinner meeting of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and the attendance attested to the interest in the local organization and the reputation of the speaker.

The gathering was called to order by James L. Rowe, newly elected president of the Chamber of Commerce, and after the singing of a verse of America, the Rev. Frank L. Golinick gave the recitation.

Cashin Is Toastmaster
Following the dinner, Mr. Rowe presented County Judge John M. Cashin as toastmaster for the evening. Judge Cashin, who added new laurels to those he had won on similar occasions, introduced as the first speaker, Mayor William F. Edelmuth, who welcomed the guests and Col. Hoffman. He spoke of the wonderful address he had heard Col. Hoffman make a year or so ago at an F.B.I. Conference at New York City, then added, "Col. Hoffman was warned on his trip to Kingston that he was coming to a Republican community, but that the Mayor happened to be a Democrat. I'll tell him something: If he had happened to be a Democrat he would be a general today, instead of a colonel," Mayor Edelmuth said.

Judge Cashin then introduced

Manuel Reina, who was at the helm of the Chamber of Commerce during its first year, one of "the city's active, foremost and progressive young men."

Gives C. of C. Report
Mr. Reina gave some details of what had been done since the Chamber of Commerce was organized in early April, 1945. He mentioned first the securing of 636 members, "the greatest membership of any Chamber of Commerce in the Hudson Valley," and the raising of approximately $17,000 through membership dues. Of that sum he said, there remained on hand at the end of the year $8,403.70. Other activities listed included:

Motion Is Granted In Suit Brought Against the City

Payment of the Increased Compensation Withheld Since Jan.; Names of Officers Listed

Justice Harry E. Schirick has granted the motion for judgment on pleadings in the matter of the members of the Kingston Police Department and the Kingston Fire Department against the City of Kingston, awarding them the increased compensation which had been withheld since January 1, 1946, when no provision was made for the annual budget adopted by the Common Council for raising the necessary funds for payment of the increases.

In a budget, later declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, provision was made for payment of the increases but the budget was attacked as unconstitutional under the 2 per cent limitation law and a new reduced budget was later approved by the Common Council and a tax levy made.

Justice Schirick, before whom the matter was heard, handed down his decision at noon today. The original complaint was brought in the name of several police officers and firemen and "others similarly situated." Justice Schirick held he could not hear the matter for "others similarly situated" unless such persons were specifically mentioned and as a result an amended complaint was filed in which the names of the following police officers were substituted instead of the original title: Clarence Brophy, Gerald Every, James Burns, Robert F. Murphy, William Rodell, Joseph Fallon, Albert Hutton, Robert Harwick, Joseph M. Hallinan, Glyndon

Russians Demand Six Conditions for Iranian Approval

Premier of the Occupied Country Says Moscow Talks Were Friendly but Difficult

London, March 5 (AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam Es Soltaneh of Iran was reported en route home from Moscow today bearing six Soviet demands, including one that his country "invite" Red Army troops to remain in Iran. Moscow advisers said the premier had been told that following a banquet last night attended by Generalissimo Stalin and indicated the outcome of his talks with Soviet officials had been inconclusive. An Iranian spokesman in the Russian capital said the premier and his delegation had listened to "proposals" concerning Russian troops in Iran. The spokesman described the talks as "friendly but difficult."

The London Evening News said the six demands had been handed Ahmed Qavam prior to his departure. Heading the list the newspaper said, was a specification that Russian troops should remain in Iran until such time as the other five demands were accepted.

Lists Five Demands

These five points, the newspaper said, are that Iran recognize the "autonomous" government of Azerbaijan, grant oil concessions to Russia, sign an alliance with Russia, coordinate its foreign policy with Russia, and allow Soviet military advisers to organize the Azerbaijan armed forces and to station them at points of strategic interest to the Soviet Union.

Iranian troops have been prevented by Soviet forces from entering Azerbaijan, a northwestern Iranian province. Meanwhile, a British foreign office spokesman disclosed that Frank Roberts, British charge d'affaires in Moscow, had been in

Welfare Merger Parley Tonight Mayor, Common Council to Get Communication From Supervisors

The matter of consolidating the city and county welfare departments is reported will be brought to the attention of the Common Council at a meeting this evening. A letter has been sent by Chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Edward E. Murray to Mayor Edelmuth and the Common Council bringing this matter to the attention of the city officials.

Consolidation of the two welfare boards has been under discussion for some time. Should the two boards be consolidated under county supervision it would mean that the welfare funds of the city would be removed from consideration in the city budget and the present city budget difficulty would be relieved. Under the state constitution a municipality cannot raise by general tax levy a budget greater than two per cent of the average assessed valuation of such municipality for the past five year period for general city operation. Educational funds are excluded from the two per cent limitation. Placing of the city welfare work under county jurisdiction it has been pointed out would relieve the local situation.

This matter is brought to the

Brilliant Jurist Detected Outstanding Qualities in Present Governor Back in 1930

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—George Z. Medalie, Associate Judge of the New York Court of Appeals, who started Governor Dewey toward political prominence, died today.

The 62-year-old jurist was taken ill last Thursday. His physicians said he was suffering exhaustion and acute bronchitis. Last December he had suffered an attack of pneumonia and was hospitalized in New York City for six weeks.

Judge Medalie was appointed to the state's highest tribunal by Governor Dewey September 28, 1945 to succeed John T. Loughran, who resigned as Associate Judge to become Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals. Medalie's term would have expired December 31, 1946. The jurist died at 5:15 a. m. (E.S.T.) at his hotel suite.

Discovered Dewey
Medalie, a Republican, was generally credited with being among the first to recognize the potentialities of Governor Dewey. A trial lawyer, Medalie was retained in 1930 to try a case by a law firm of which Dewey was a junior associate, and from meetings that resulted a close association began which lasted 16 years.

When Medalie was appointed United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York in 1931, his young assistant became Acting United States Attorney. Two years later the judge was

State Public Health Program Meets Favorable Reaction

By HENRY LEADER
Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey's record-breaking $14,000,000 public health program met favorable legislative reaction today, indicating prompt approval, but his plea for further study of compulsory medical care proposals drew a Democratic charge of vacillation.

Dewey submitted to the legislature last night a program which he called "the broadest step forward in public health service ever undertaken by this state or any other state." Prepared by an informal committee of state officials and public health experts, headed by Health Commissioner Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., it embraces:

A "master plan" for wiping out tuberculosis in this state within 20 years, integration and expansion of local health departments, recruitment and training of physicians, nurses and other specialists in public health work, broader research and establishment of a coordinating interdepartmental health council.

Administration bills to carry out the program were introduced. State aid of approximately 50 per cent would be granted to localities for care and treatment of tuberculosis patients and the state would take over operation of tuberculosis sanatoriums and hospitals which localities were willing to surrender.

Beginning January 1, 1947, the state would increase the amount of its aid to 75 per cent of sums expended by county health departments up to $100,000 a year and continue the present rate of 50 per cent for sums in excess of that amount.

From the same date, cities of 50,000 or more, having integrated full-time health departments that meet state standards, would be

Three-Power Plea Is Made on Franco Ties With Adolf Hitler and Mussolini

Nazi War Plans

Object of German Plans to Capture Gibraltar, Strangle Britain

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Writer

Washington, March 5 (AP)—American officials pinned their hopes today for overthrowing Spain's Franco government almost entirely on the possibility that the Spanish Army might force the Generalissimo to yield to a caretaker regime.

The chance that any other group would be able to oust the Madrid dictator and set up a new government as suggested in last night's Anglo-American-French declaration is considered extremely thin, since no other force in Spain's political life is believed here to have enough power.

The declaration called on "leading patriotic and liberal-minded Spaniards" in effect to bring about a bloodless revolution because of Franco's close ties with the Hitler-Mussolini Axis. The pronouncement was issued simultaneously in Washington, London and Paris, and government radios and other propaganda mechanisms were brought into instant play to make certain that it reaches the Spanish people.

Along with the declaration, the United States released 15 hitherto secret documents dug out of German government files. These were designed to show Franco's close and prolonged collaboration with Hitler and Mussolini during the war, promises in 1940 and 1941 to take Spain into the war on the side of the Axis.

German War Plans
The objective of the German war plans was to capture Gibraltar and strangle Britain's empire lifeline.

The project fell through, according to statements which Franco made to Hitler in a letter on February 26, 1941, because Spain was incapable of existing without food imports. Meanwhile, the documents brought out, Spain had agreed to help with the refueling of German U-boats in her waters off the Bay of Biscay.

Also Franco wrote Hitler that he was "entirely and decidedly at your disposal, united in a common historical destiny, desertion from which would mean my suicide and that of the cause which I have led and represent in Spain."

As late as December 15, 1943, Franco was quoted in a memorandum by German ambassador Hans Dieckhoff as having told the envoy that an English-American victory "would mean his own annihilation."

Last night's declaration originally was proposed by the United States government after France had asked for a three-power review of relations with Spain and had closed her Spanish border.

The declaration, stating that "there is no intention of interfering in internal affairs of Spain," added: "The Spanish people themselves must in the long run work out their own destiny in a peaceful manner."

It is against this background that American diplomatic officials are looking to Spanish army leaders to act. The reasoning of these authorities is that since the army generals originally conferred Franco's full power as generalissimo upon him they might now withdraw it on the ground that his staying in power will hurt Spain's position in the world.

The declaration called on "leading patriotic and liberal-minded Spaniards" in effect to bring about a bloodless revolution because of Franco's close ties with the Hitler-Mussolini Axis. The pronouncement was issued simultaneously in Washington, London and Paris, and government radios and other propaganda mechanisms were brought into instant play to make certain that it reaches the Spanish people.

Along with the declaration, the United States released 15 hitherto secret documents dug out of German government files. These were designed to show Franco's close and prolonged collaboration with Hitler and Mussolini, involving promises in 1940 and 1941 to take Spain into the war on the side of the Axis.

German War Plans
The objective of the German war plans was to capture Gibraltar and strangle Britain's empire lifeline.

The project fell through, according to statements which Franco made to Hitler in a letter on February 26, 1941, because Spain was incapable of existing without food imports. Meanwhile, the documents brought out, Spain had agreed to help with the refueling of German U-boats in her waters and of German destroyers in the Bay of Biscay.

Also Franco wrote Hitler that he was "entirely and decidedly at your disposal, united in a common historical destiny, desertion from which would mean my suicide and that of the cause which I have led and represent in Spain."

As late as December 15, 1943, Franco was quoted in a memorandum by German ambassador Hans Dieckhoff as having told the envoy that an English-American victory "would mean his own annihilation."

Last night's declaration originally was proposed by the United States government after France had asked for a three-power review of relations with Spain and had closed her Spanish border.

The declaration, stating that "there is no intention of interfering in the internal affairs of Spain," added: "The Spanish people themselves must in the long run work out their own destiny in a peaceful manner."

It is against this background that American diplomatic officials are looking to Spanish army leaders to act. The reasoning of these authorities is that since the army generally is not loyal to Franco's full power as generalissimo, upon him they might now withdraw in the ground that his staying in power will hurt Spain's position in the world.

Lake May Have Names
It takes a fair vocabulary to describe the landscape in the terms used in various parts of Britain, a Glasgow scholar points out. In Scotland a lake is a loch, in Wales a llyn and in Ireland a lough, while in the Lake District the words mere and water are mostly used. A small mountain is a tarn and in the North a deep lake-like pool in a river is a dub.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

Bombay, March 5 (AP)—It isn't an easy matter to fix responsibility for the casualties that occur in India's rioting.

Many of those killed or wounded during native demonstrations are sincere patriots swept away by mob hysteria. Others are calculating hoodlums who take advantage of disorders—in fact help foment them—to feather their own nests by looting jewelry and clothing shops. They are urban guerrillas who owe no loyalty to anyone but themselves and by any law they deserve to be treated as common bandits.

Indian politicians, whose inflammatory utterances often lead to the rioting, are the first to deplore these violent outbreaks after they occur and simultaneously they almost invariably accuse the British of unnecessary brutality in quelling the riots.

Say Accusations Are Unjust
British troops and young officers who have no role in determining Empire policy, other than preserving law and order, smart under these accusations, which they consider unjust.

Here is the British side of the story as given by one captain who has taken an active part in subduing two serious riots here within a month:

"It's all well and good for people who don't have to do the dirty work to say that we go around firing needlessly—as if we got any pleasure out of shooting people down in the streets. What they don't bother to learn is that we don't fire haphazardly. We are forbidden by civil law from opening fire except with permission of a magistrate—and nine times out of 10 it's an Indian magistrate who gives the order for us to shoot."

"If it looks like we are going to have trouble during native demonstrations we send out platoons

of troops on patrol. Each platoon has with it an officer and a civil magistrate. If the demonstration is orderly the native police handle it themselves and we do nothing but patrol.

"Even if the demonstration breaks up in a riot we don't step in unless it begins to get entirely out of hand. Usually the Indian police with their lathi sticks can rush in and scatter the crowd, and all anybody gets out of it is a sore head or a few bruises. And those Indian police take their share of thumps, too. It doesn't do you any good to take a rock or soda bottle in your face."

"We stay out of it entirely unless the rioters overwhelm the police and begin looting and burning shops. Unless force is used then the mob will grow wilder and wilder until nothing is safe. Women will be stripped in the streets. Any European who shows his face will be beaten to a pulp and business property will be destroyed."

Always Blame British
"When the magistrate with us decides there is no other way to halt the rioting he gives us order to fire—and we fire only on his order. And who gets the blame afterward? Not the Indian civil magistrate who gave the order, no—it's always blamed on the British troops who pulled the triggers."

"And rich Indian merchants whose shops we saved from looting join Indian politicians in condemning us. But they were damn glad we were there with bullets while the riot was still on."

Even more hated by the mobs than the British are the Anglo-Indian police inspectors who direct the native policemen in conducting the rioting. These men of mixed blood live in an unhappy twilight world of their parents' making. They are regarded by Indians as traitors and are only partly accepted by the British, who usually limit them to positions of minor government authority.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

No, Thanks

Los Angeles, March 5 (AP)—A government agency gave the city school system two carloads of potatoes and business manager A. S. Nibeker a headache.

The potatoes came free with the proviso they be served at school cafeterias.

That's all very well, says Nibeker, but costs of unloading, peeling and serving the potatoes would overrun the cafeteria's budget.

Absent-Minded

Portland, Ore., March 5 (AP)—Shoe cobbler Charles L. Mahan picked up a good hiding place for his cash he couldn't find it himself—until he tossed a scrap leather box into an incinerator and burned $830 in bills.

Secret service agents heard his woeful tale and said some of the charred remains might be redeemable.

Simple Arithmetic

Albuquerque, N. M., March 5 (AP)—Just how many hogs and chickens, the farmer wanted to know, would the government take in payments. But, he suggested, the Giles L. Matthews, Internal Revenue Bureau field deputy, explained that the government didn't take livestock for March 15 payments. But, he suggested, the farmer could convert his pigs and poultry into cash "and then come back and see us."

Sharp Deducting

Everett, Wash., March 5 (AP)—Thirty disgruntled motorists had to fix flat tires on highway 99 north of here.

The state highway department, called to sweep the pavement with magnets, said a passing truck had evidently lost a sack of tacks.

Beware Of Dog

Pasadena, Calif., March 5 (AP)—Ching—half chow, half husky dog—is really in trouble now.

When a postman complained Ching had bitten him, the sheriff's office sent deputy C. L. Brownlee to investigate. A perspiring Brownlee reported back that the dog had caught up with him, too, after a block's chase.

Ching's owner is due in court Tuesday.

Noted Police Experts En Route to Japan

San Francisco, March 5 (AP)—Six veteran police officers headed by Lewis J. Valentine, retired New York Police Commissioner, are en route by plane from Hamilton Field today to Tokyo.

They are making the trip at the invitation of General MacArthur to reorganize the Japanese and Korean police. They expect to remain overseas from 30 to 60 days. Valentine said it was not determined whether the American municipal system pattern would be used.

Others aboard the plane were Capt. Benjamin King, Richard Eberion and George Gallagher of the New York City Department; New York State Police Inspector Charles La Forge and Lt. Col. Francis Quigley, U.S.A.

War Casualties Drop

New Zealand had 135,000 men serving in World War II against 100,444 in the 1914-18 war, but their casualties were only 37,497 or 28 per cent, against 55,155, or 58 per cent in the first war. The only increase was in the number of prisoners of war.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

If further evidence was needed to show that it pays to advertise in newspapers, Commerce Commissioner M. P. Catherwood furnishes the proof in his small business report.

The State of New York chose newspaper advertising to promote new small business opportunities for veterans and others in the state and to replace the 100,000 small business units that closed during the war.

Results of the first week's state-sponsored advertisements in the newspapers of the state carrying details about Governor Dewey's small business expansion program show that approximately 20,000 individual requests for information and literature flooded the New York State Department of Commerce.

The bulk of responses came as a result of ads carried in ninety-nine daily newspapers in 76 cities, but the outlying districts reached with 488 weekly newspapers employed for the drive produced their share of requests considering that most of the newspapers carried their ads late in the first week.

SCHOOL LUNCH

It is natural to wonder what George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and a lot of their contemporaries and descendants would think of the United States government voting 100 million dollars a year for school lunches, served free to the school boys and girls of their time. Or one-tenth of that.

It is not quite clear how the lunch problem was served then; but perhaps it can be assumed that the boys and girls carried their lunches, or walked home for them, as was done generally until the last generation or two. The tradition of the school dinner pail has persisted, but the reality grows dimmer with the lapse of time. The tin pail was a notable advance on the paper bag, at a time when paper was seldom available. But as many fathers and grandfathers well remember, it was nothing to walk home for noon dinner a mile or more and back again.

Now—a hundred million dollars a year for school lunches, coming freely out of the capacious purse of Uncle Sam! Gosh, what appetites these present-day youngsters must have! Do they really eat their noonday victuals as their parents and grandparents did? Do they eat the crusts? Many of us would like to know.

Yes, we know the appropriation is only for children of the needy. But things like that do set a fellow wondering about lots of things.

NEW BASEBALL WAR

A Mexican baseball league has formed and begun to lure away big league players. While no great names have gone as yet, club owners are getting dismayed. Nothing like this has happened since the Federal League of 1914-15, which in its short life managed to put a considerable crimp in the big leagues' pocketbooks.

This may be serious enough to justify earnest representations to the Mexican government. If Mexican-American relations could be disturbed years ago by a little thing like oil, something really important like baseball ought to be settled before matters go too far.

TRUST IN PEOPLE

Herbert Hoover, who knows as much about feeding hungry people as anybody living, made a remark the other day that is worth remembering as an expert's judgment on human nature. "I believe," he said, "that less food was consumed per capita in the last war, when he had voluntary rationing, than during this war when we had compulsory rationing."

If this is the case, it reveals people in a better light than usual, and suggests putting more trust in each other, about many more things than we are usually willing to do. Our supposedly weak human nature may be, on the whole, better and stronger than we think.

WHO IS NICK BEZ?

It appears that on March 26, 1945, Marvin Jones, administrator of the War Food Administration, recommended that the Defense Plant Corporation acquire an ocean-going vessel for conversion into a floating cannery and factory ship for catching and processing fish in the Bering Sea. Also, that five trawlers be constructed for operation in conjunction with the floating cannery. And Mr. Jones further recommended that after all this had been done at the expense of $3,750,000, the six vessels should be rented to the Pacific Exploration Company.

The project was certified by the War Food Administration and the Co-ordinator of Fisheries of the Department of Interior, of which prospective columnist Harold Ickes was then the head.

What was recommended was done, and the vessel, "Mormacrey," was acquired by the R.F.C. for conversion.

On August 31, 1945, J. B. Hutson, acting secretary of agriculture, advised the R.F.C. that the project was no longer essential and that his department was unable to reaffirm its former recommendation. He did, however, indicate that the Department of Interior wanted the project continued.

On August 30, 1945, John W. Snyder, asked the R.F.C. to find out what the Department of Interior and the State Department think about the project. As I go through these documents, it is difficult to understand why Mr. Snyder, who is a sort of assistant President, could not have got this information directly from the Interior and State Departments. At any rate, both departments threw the project into Mr. Snyder's lap for decision, where apparently it rests.

The last report on the subject by the R.F.C., dated October 31, 1945, states:

"The conversion of the ocean-going vessel into the floating cannery and factory ship has not been completed and that the construction of the trawlers has not been commenced."

However, on December 5, 1945, it was reported that the U. S. government had provided the money for the construction of the five trawlers by the Astoria Marine Construction Company, Astoria, Ore., and that construction had commenced. Also that conversion work was continuing on the "Mormacrey" at the Bellingham Iron Works, Bellingham, Wash.

Now all this has developed considerable excitement among American fishermen who find themselves faced by government-financed competition. The principal involved is one Nick Bez, I understand, is of Yugoslav origin. Nick Bez is president of the Pacific Exploration Company for which the R.F.C. was engaging in a $3,750,000 venture.

These fishermen stimulated inquiries of Senator Warren G. Magnuson, of Washington, who told the "Marine Digest" that the project would cost in the vicinity of $2,000,000 which was an inaccurate figure, and that "the Defense Plant Corporation is participating only in a small amount in a loan similar to a bank loan which must be paid back with interest."

Senator Magnuson also told the "Marine Digest" that all this activity to develop fishing on the Bering Shelf and that the men involved in the Pacific Exploration Company were not only Nick Bez but also scientists who had explored the area. The senator does not say whether these scientists had done the exploring while on the payroll of the government and then turned the data over to Nick Bez. And as an American fisherman, I do not know whether this is a bonafide participation or a cut-in.

When the entire transaction is analyzed, it appears that Nick Bez can get a government underwriting to the extent of $3,750,000 for new business; yet I have evidence that an American fisherman has been fishing codfish and crab in Bering Sea for about 35 years and profitably. He did it on his own money, and now the government is setting up competition to him and any other Americans, using taxpayers' money to subsidize new ventures for Nick Bez.

Who is Nick Bez that he has such an in? May I suggest that a Congressional Committee investigate not only this project but the entire Bering Sea situation? For instance, why as late as December 26, 1945, did the Department of Interior go to the bat for this project which the Department of Agriculture said was unnecessary and the State Department insisted be continued? Something smells in the Bering Sea.

DEATHS FROM DIPHTHERIA

The Department of Health of every community is determined to prevent "any" deaths from diphtheria. Notwithstanding that it is known that diphtheria can be prevented by early use of antitoxin in adequate doses there are still thousands of unnecessary deaths yearly in the United States and Canada.

In an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association it is stated: "Wide variation in the size of the diphtheria death rate among children occurs in different states. This Delaware at last reports had no deaths per hundred thousand over a two year period and Arkansas, South Carolina and Oklahoma had a death rate of 13.5 per hundred thousand."

As the method of immunizing children against diphtheria does not vary, it is hard to understand why there should be such a difference in the percentage of diphtheria cases per hundred thousand of the population. The editorial explains this wide variation.

The available methods for control of diphtheria are sufficient to allow the complete disappearance of this disease. Although the United States has a large life insurance company showed two definite causes for deaths from diphtheria; first, delay in treatment (when the physician was not called until the fourth day of the disease or later), and second, not using large enough doses of antitoxin. It can thus be seen that diphtheria, is like many other diseases in which delay in treatment is dangerous.

"The application of modern immunization methods of susceptible persons on a countrywide basis would serve to eradicate the disease; meanwhile, emphasis on the importance of sufficiently early administration of antitoxin in adequate doses would help prevent the unnecessary deaths of some 1,000 American children who die of diphtheria annually."

The lesson then, for us is to have children immunized against diphtheria, to call physician early in cases of sore throat, and for the physician to give large enough doses of antitoxin.

A real estate transaction involving approximately $400,000 was consummated on February 15, 1926, in New York City, when Odell S. Hathaway transferred to Walter Reade, owner of a chain of 32 theatres, title to the last two remaining theatres in the Hathaway chain; the Kingston Opera House and Keeney's Theatre on Wall Street.

Later Mr. Reade changed the name of Keeney's Theatre to Reade's Kingston Theatre, and announced that the Kingston Opera House would be either sold or leased for commercial purposes other than for a theatre.

The new owner also proposed to enlarge the Wall Street theatre, increasing its seating capacity to 2,500, and installing a large stage. While alterations were being made it was planned to continue to operate the old opera house as a theatre.

The announcement of his plans made by Mr. Reade at the time he purchased the two theatres was carried out. Today the old opera house building houses offices where the theatre once was, while the ground floor is still used for stores.

The Wall Street theatre was enlarged as planned, and for a number of years has been one of the leading movie houses in the city. Levan S. Winne, senior member of the former firm of L. S. Winne and Co., hardware dealers on Wall Street, died in his home on Maiden Lane on February 10, 1926.

At the time of his death he had been engaged in the hardware business for 34 years, first as a clerk with A. B. Paynter and later with Sahler and Reynolds.

Later he embarked in business with Abram Winchell and the firm for some years was known as Winne and Winchell. When Mr. Winchell retired from the firm he was succeeded by Ogden F. Winne, and the firm name changed to L. S. Winne and Co.

The firm is no longer in existence and its store on Wall Street now houses a furniture house.

Shortage of Materials, Holdup on Price Fixing May Mean Delay in Industry After G. M. Strike Is Settled

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 5—An impression prevails that when the General Motors strike is settled, business will pick up and the whole pattern for settlement of wage controversies will have been designed. The opposite happens to be the view taken by some of the men familiar with what is happening in the motor-car industry.

It is pointed out, for instance, that there are severe shortages of important parts needed to make finished automobiles. The public doesn't care to buy automobiles without locks or without upholstery or without some of the other vital accessories, and yet strikes or work stoppages of various kinds are still going on which will delay any big volume of cars from passing through the assembly line to dealers.

The impression, moreover, is generally that the steel strike situation has been clarified. Far from being settled, there are many fabrications of steel struggling with the wage and price problem. Then there is the matter of getting prices changed. The assumption is widespread that once the O.P.A. permits certain price increases so as to absorb wage rises, all will be well. In some instances, where manufacturers have not had any strikes but have given the wage increases demanded, there are applications pending for increases in price which are not being acted upon due to the delays in writing rules and regulations. Meanwhile, the management of some plants are spending every day vast sums keeping their operations going and waiting for action from Washington.

Even when the price increases are granted after a showing of facts, the sudden increase in the cost of materials due to strike or wage settlements occurring after the new prices are authorized will send the whole matter back to the O.P.A. for further revisions of the price structure.

It is said that in some industries as many as three or possibly five different applications for price changes will be made during the year as the costs of materials are made known to the manufacturers.

Economic System in Danger
What isn't generally realized is the whole economic system is in danger of being slowed up by many months to come. The optimists are saying that the second half of 1946 will see boom time especially in meeting pent-up demands. Another school of thought believes that 1946 will not see any boom times but that by 1947 the factories may possibly be going at high production level and the whole situation may be adjusted by that, in the meantime, vast sums will be paid by the federal government and the states for unemployment compensation.

Much is made by some observers of the fact the Bureau of Census official unemployment figures are supposed to be about 2,300,000, but this does not include the 2,000,000 who are drawing various kinds of compensation account of veterans benefits, military pay and terminal leave payments. About 4,000,000 men remain to be discharged from the army and navy.

It will, therefore, be about September before any real estimate can be made as to the number of persons who are not working. The labor market is in a state of uncertainty in some industries is felt in the need for specially trained and skilled labor and to the fact the many of the so-called unemployed are veterans who have not been able to settle down because of lack of housing, uncertainties as to the jobs they may wish to take. This is an era of uncertainty for hundreds of thousands of men.

Facing Severe Period
The purchasing power of the country has not been too seriously affected by the use of the huge amount of money saved in war bonds and because of the various forms of relief compensation paid by states and the federal government. By the end of another six months, the country will face not only a diminished purchasing power but a severe unemployment situation unless the strike and work stoppages are quickly settled, which, of course, few persons who know the true situation expecting to happen.

Economic unrest, which means the management of labor to adjust themselves to a complicated, if not unworkable, wage-price policy, is likely to grow rather than fade away in the next several months. The better part of realism is to face the fact that 1946 is a hard year for the American people.

Chungking Will See Many Important Things Happen

Chungking, March 5 (AP)—This provisional capital, scene of historic developments during the long war years, is expected to see the reorganization of the Chinese government and possible settlement of Chinese-Soviet differences over Manchuria before the government moves back to Nanking.

When Japan collapsed last August, no one in Chungking dreamed that this town still would be the seat of government at this late date. Moving has proved a bigger problem than expected.

Chungking, described as a city of mud and courage, always will be honored as the citadel from which a tottering China fought back against a formidable Japan.

Many dark and bitter days were known in the years after the seat of government was established here in November, 1937.

There were the "bombing seasons" Japanese air forces, usually unchallenged, tried persistently and vainly to obliterate the city. The last enemy bomb fell within Chungking's limits on August 31, 1941, in the worst bombing season ever experienced.

From humble buildings of bamboo and dried mud, the city was thrown up to replace the more pretentious structures destroyed, the government carried on.

More Improvements
Many scars of war remain, but a city a better Chungking is emerging. Part of it is due to unintentional aid from the Japanese fliers. Every time a section was destroyed by bombs, the Chinese rebuilt the streets and furthered the program for a better-designed city.

Now that the war has ended, many deeply-pitted streets have been repaired. The best of these jobs is on the street that passes the foreign office, which stands on a hill commanding a view of the Yangtze river. This building, once the French embassy, was damaged badly by Japanese bombs but has been restored.

The road has been resurfaced, sidewalks have been put in, and small trees line the curb.

The city lighting system still is subject to sudden failures, but is far better than in the war years. Fresh water is still hard to get. Coolies do a prosperous business selling water at the equivalent of 25 cents a bucket.

Despite the general easing of life, a single topic is paramount: "When do we leave Chungking?"

Find Parting Difficult
Some persons who endured all the war years here, with the cold, the inconvenience, the dark, the lack of night life, the shoddy restaurants and other causes of complaint, are finding their place after all, now that parting-time is near.

There is much more entertaining than ever before. Most departing residents have almost literally tried to eat and drink their way out of town.

Customs of local servants contribute to the whimsicality of parting. Dignified diplomats still turn pale at the sight of waiter digging guests in the ribs to attract their attention, but no one has yet succeeded in breaking the habit.

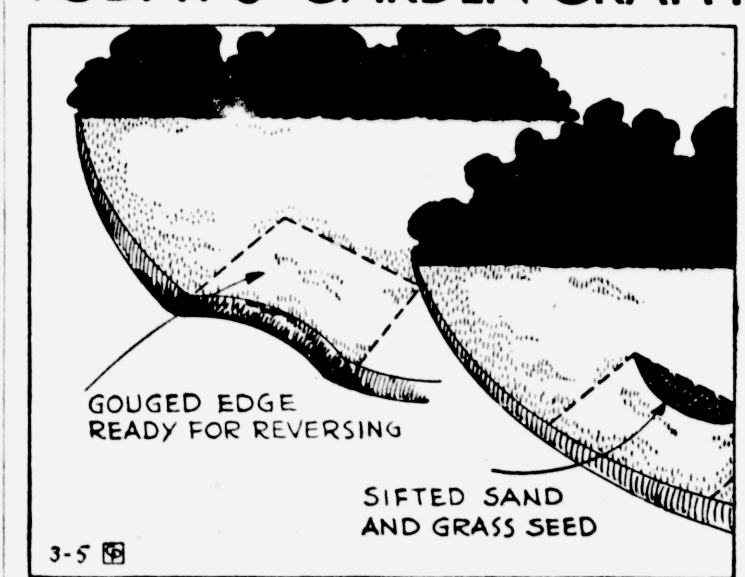

One newly-arrived diplomat who gave an elaborate dinner for Chinese and foreign notables took great pains to arrange for a fine meal. He installed extra charcoal braziers to combat the biting chill, and put in special lights.

move some of the pervading gloom like a heavy blanket. The first course was finished. Then, to his horror, the host noticed that the waiters removing the fish plates were carefully depositing the spoiled fish knives on each guest's bread plate for use in the next course.

Accumulations are willing to bet that if he has nightmares they probably consist of a grinning Chinese waiter digging him in the ribs with a dirty fish knife.

But that's Chungking—the soot-not-to-be capital of China.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Spring Tailoring for Winter-Worn Lawns
By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

WELL-GROOMED turf makes an attractive edging for walks or driveways, but when melting snow reveals that over-winter the grass edges have become gouged from being backed into by automobiles or delivery trucks, do not despair. A little spring tailoring will soon make the damaged edges as good as new.

One illustration shows the section of lawn edge marked by a gouge, which should be cut out either in a square or oblong piece, as indicated by the dotted lines.

The second illustration shows the section of turf, reversed and replaced, thus leaving a neat edge on the outside again.

The damaged section, indicated by arrow, should be filled in with sifted sand and generously seeded with a good grass seed, after which nature will quickly mend the patch.

Even if you are suffering from a severe case of spring-fever don't make the mistake of rolling your lawn too early, in your desire to smooth out the rough places.

It is a mistake to do any rolling until all danger of freezing and thawing is past and until the ground is no longer soggy. If wet soil is compacted too much, the turf will be badly injured.

Rolling is recommended when the soil is moderately moist, for then many surface irregularities can be ironed out.

When 14 years old she signed a pledge that she would never drink, wine, brandy, rum, beer, whiskey or any other drink containing alcohol. She pasted this in the family Bible where every member of the family signed it.

In reading, "Woman of the Month" was given and one in regard to the Willard Memorial Fund which is helping to carry on the work which Miss Willard loved.

Mrs. Rick Gives Paper on Glass

At Sorosis Meeting Monday
Mrs. Edward Rick gave the paper for the day on "Glass" at the Sorosis meeting Monday afternoon. The group met with Mrs. Ward Brigham at her home on Linderman avenue.

Mrs. Rick first told about the early history of glass having its first record about 2,000 B. C. in Syria. Glass industry has become increasingly important. Mrs. Rick explained as she traced the story of glass through the various European countries. Sweden developed the art and at first it was difficult to obtain skilled artists in America because of the immigration laws. There was a glass furnace in Philadelphia in 1739. Sandwich glass was made shortly afterward. By 1870 all kinds of glass were being made in America and in 1899 Michael Owens invented an automatic bottle machine for making glass bottles.

Speaking of the ingredients in glass making, Mrs. Rick reported that soda and lime would make ordinary glass; potash and lime a better product and with lead added a superior product. At the Corning Glass Works it is possible to make 750 electric light bulbs in 24 hours and a plate glass window in 22 hours. She

WHERE 27 DIED IN CRASH OF PLANE

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
Bombay, March 5 (AP)—It isn't an easy matter to fix responsibility for the casualties that occur in India's rioting.

Many of those killed or wounded during native demonstrations are sincere patriots swept away by mob hysteria. Others are calculating Hooligans who take advantage of disorders—in fact help foment them—to feather their own nests by looting jewelry and clothing shops. They are urban guerrillas who owe no loyalty to anyone but themselves and by any law they deserve to be treated as common bandits.

Indian politicians, whose inflammatory utterances often lead to the rioting, are the first to deplore these violent outbreaks after they occur and simultaneously they almost invariably accuse the British of unnecessary brutality in quelling the rioters.

Say Accusations Are Unjust
British troops and young officers who have no role in determining Empire policy, other than preserving law and order, smart under these accusations, which they consider unjust.

Here is the British side of the story as given by one captain who has taken an active part in subduing two serious riots here within a month.

"It's all well and good for people who don't have to do the dirty work to say that we go around firing needlessly, as if we get any pleasure out of shooting people down in the streets. What they don't bother to learn is that we don't fire haphazardly. We are forbidden by civil law from opening fire except with permission of a magistrate—and nine times out of 10 it's an Indian magistrate who gives the order for us to shoot."

"If it looks like we are going to have trouble during native demonstrations we send out platoons

of troops on patrol. Each platoon has with it an officer and a civil magistrate. If the demonstration is orderly the native police handle it themselves and we do nothing but patrol.

"Even if the demonstration breaks up in a riot we don't step in unless it begins to get entirely out of hand. Usually the Indian police with their lathi sticks can push in and scatter the crowd, and anybody gets out of it is a sore head or a few bruises. And those Indian police take their share of thumps, too. It doesn't do you any good to take a rock or soda bottle in your face."

"We stay out of it entirely unless the rioters overwhelm the police and begin looting and burning shops. Unless force is used then the mob will grow wilder and wilder until nothing is safe. Women will be stripped in the streets. Any European who shows his face will be beaten to a pulp and business property will be destroyed."

Always Blame British
"When the magistrate with us decides there is no other way to halt the rioting he gives us order to fire—and we fire only on his order. And who gets the blame afterward? Not the Indian civil magistrate who gave the order, no—it's always blamed on the British troops who pulled the triggers."

"And rich Indian merchants whose shops we saved from looting join Indian politicians in condemning us. But they were damn sure we were there with bullets while the riot was still on."

Even more hated by the mobs than the British are the Anglo-Indian police inspectors who direct the native policemen. These men of mixed blood live in an unhappy twilight world of their parents' making. They are regarded by Indians as traitors and are only partly accepted by the British, who usually limit them to positions of minor government authority.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

No, Thanks

Los Angeles, March 5 (AP)—A government agency gave the city school system two carloads of potatoes and business manager A. S. Nibeker a headache.

The potatoes came free with the proviso they be served at school cafeterias.

That's all very well, says Nibeker, but costs of unloading, peeling and serving the potatoes would overrun the cafeteria's budget.

Absent-Minded

Portland, Ore., March 5 (AP)—Shoe cobbler Charles L. Mahan picked such a good hiding place for his cash he couldn't find it himself—until he tossed a scrap leather box into an incinerator and burned $830 in bills.

Secret service agents heard his woeful tale and said some of the charred remains might be redeemable.

Simple Arithmetic

Albuquerque, N. M., March 5 (AP)—Just how many hogs and chickens, the farmer wanted to know, would the government take in payments. But, he suggested, the Giles L. Matthews, Internal Revenue Bureau field deputy, explained that the government didn't take livestock for March 15 payments. But, he suggested, the farmer could convert his pigs and poultry into cash "and then come back and see us."

Sharp Deducting

Everett, Wash., March 5 (AP)—Thirty disgruntled motorists had to fix flat tires on Highway 99 north of here.

The state highway department, called to sweep the pavement with magnets, said a passing truck had evidently lost a sack of tacks.

Beware Of Dog

Pasadena, Calif., March 5 (AP)—Ching—half chow, half husky dog—is really in trouble now.

When a postman complained Ching had bitten him, the sheriff's office sent deputy C. L. Brownlee to investigate. A perspiring Brownlee reported back that the dog had caught up with him too, after a block's chase.

Ching's owner is due in court Tuesday.

Noted Police Experts
En Route to Japan

San Francisco, March 5 (AP)—Six veteran police officers headed by Lewis J. Valentine, retired New York Police Commissioner, are en route by plane from Hamilton Field today to Tokyo.

They are making the trip at the invitation of General MacArthur to reorganize the Japanese and Korean police. They expect to remain overseas from 30 to 60 days.

Valentine said it was not determined whether the American municipal system pattern would be used.

War Casualties Drop

New Zealand had 135,000 men serving in World War II against 100,444 in the 1914-18 war, but their casualties were only 37,497 or 28 per cent, against 55,153, or 58 per cent in the first war. The only increase was in the number of prisoners of war.

Hounds Chase Cat

The usual result ensued when somebody threw a cat onto a greyhound race track in London. The dogs lost interest in the mechanical hare and chased and caught the flesh-and-blood cat. Members of the crowd jumped the rails to the rescue but the cat beat them to it by escaping into the hare tunnel. When brought out again the feline was handed to the "vet" who found that despite having been attacked by five of the six dogs in the race, the cat had received only superficial wounds and bruises.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

If further evidence was needed to show that it pays to advertise in newspapers, Commerce Commissioner M. P. Catherwood furnishes the proof in his small business report.

The State of New York chose newspaper advertising to promote new small business opportunities for veterans and others in the state and to replace the 100,000 small business units that closed during the war.

Results of the first week's state-sponsored advertisements in the newspapers of the state carrying details about Governor Dewey's small business expansion program show that approximately 20,000 individual requests for information and literature flooded the New York State Department of Commerce.

The bulk of responses came as a result of ads carried in ninety-nine daily newspapers in 76 cities, but the outlying districts reached with 488 weekly newspapers employed for the drive produced their share of requests considering that most of the newspapers carried their ads late in the first week.

SCHOOL LUNCH

It is natural to wonder what George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and a lot of their contemporaries and descendants would think of the United States government voting 100 million dollars a year for school lunches, served free to the school boys and girls of their time. Or one-tenth of that.

It is not quite clear how the lunch problem was served then; but perhaps it can be assumed that the boys and girls carried their lunches, or walked home for them as was done generally until the last generation or two. The tradition of the school dinner pail has persisted, but the reality grows dimmer with the lapse of time. The tin pail was a notable advance on the paper bag, at a time when paper was seldom available. But as many fathers and grandfathers well remember, it was nothing to walk home for noon dinner a mile or more and back again.

Now—a hundred million dollars a year for school lunches, coming freely out of the capacious purse of Uncle Sam! Gosh, what appetites these present-day youngsters must have! Do they really eat their noonday victuals as their parents and grandparents did? Do they eat the crusts? Many of us would like to know.

Yes, we know the appropriation is only for children of the needy. But things like that do set a fellow wondering about lots of things.

NEW BASEBALL WAR

A Mexican baseball league has formed and begun to lure away big league players. While no great names have gone as yet, club owners are getting dismayed. Nothing like this has happened since the Federal League of 1914-15, which in its short life managed to put a considerable crimp in the big leagues' pocketbooks.

This may be serious enough to justify earnest representations to the Mexican government. If Mexican-American relations could be disturbed years ago by a little thing like oil, something really important like baseball ought to be settled before matters go too far.

TRUST IN PEOPLE

Herbert Hoover, who knows as much about feeding hungry people as anybody living, made a remark the other day that is worth remembering as an expert's judgment on human nature. "I believe," he said, "that less food was consumed per capita in the last war, when he had voluntary rationing, than during this war when we had compulsory rationing."

If this is the case, it reveals people in a better light than usual, and suggests putting more trust in each other, about many more things than we are usually willing to do. Our supposedly weak human nature may be, on the whole, better and stronger than we think.

WHO IS NICK BEZ?

It appears that on March 26, 1945, Marvin Jones, administrator of the War Food Administration, recommended that the Defense Plant Corporation acquire an ocean-going vessel for conversion into a floating cannery and factory ship for catching and processing fish in the Bering Sea. Also, that live trawlers be constructed for operation in conjunction with the floating cannery. And Mr. Jones further recommended that after all this had been done at the expense of $3,750,000, the six vessels should be rented to the Pacific Exploration Company.

The project was certified by the War Food Administration and the Co-ordinator of Fisheries of the Department of Interior of which prospective columnist Harold Ickes was then the head.

What was recommended was done, and the vessel, "Mormacree," was acquired by the R.F.C. for conversion.

On August 31, 1945, J. B. Hutson, acting secretary of agriculture, advised the R.F.C. that the project was no longer essential and that the department was unable to reaffirm its former recommendation. He did, however, indicate that the Department of Interior wanted the project continued.

On August 30, 1945, John W. Snyder, asked the R.F.C. to find out what the Department of Interior and the State Department think about the project. As I go through these documents, it is difficult to understand why Mr. Snyder, who is a sort of assistant President, could not have got this information directly from the Interior and State Departments. At any rate, both departments threw the project into Mr. Snyder's lap for decision, where apparently it rests.

The last report on the subject by the R.F.C., dated October 31, 1945, states:

"The conversion of the ocean-going vessel into the floating cannery and factory ship has not been completed and that the construction of the trawlers has not been commenced."

However, on December 5, 1945, it was reported that the U. S. government had provided the money for the construction of the five trawlers by the Astoria Marine Construction Company, Astoria, Ore., and that construction had commenced. Also that conversion work was continuing on the "Mormacree" at the Bellingham Iron Works, Bellingham, Wash.

Now all this has developed considerable excitement among American fishermen who find themselves faced by government-financed competition. The principal involved is one Nick Bez who, I understand, is of Yugoslav origin. Nick Bez is president of the Pacific Exploration Company for which the R.F.C. was engaging in a $3,750,000 venture.

These fishermen stimulated inquiries of Senator Warren G. Magnuson, of Washington, who told the "Marine Digest" that the project would cost in the vicinity of $2,000,000 which was an inaccurate figure, and that "the Defense Plant Corporation is participating only in a small amount in a loan similar to a bank loan which must be paid back with interest."

Senator Magnuson also told the "Marine Digest" that all this activity was to develop fishing on the Bering Shelf and that the men involved in the Pacific Exploration Company were not only Nick Bez but also scientists who had explored the area. The senator does not say whether these scientists had done the exploring while on the payroll of the government and then turned the data over to Nick Bez. And as he does not say who the scientists are, I do not know whether this is a bonafide participation or a cut-in.

When the entire transaction is analyzed, it appears that Nick Bez can get a government underwriting to the extent of $3,750,000 for new business; yet I have evidence that an American fisherman has been fishing codfish and crab in Bering Sea for about 35 years and profitably. He did it on his own money, and now the government is setting up competition to him and any other Americans, using taxpayers' money to subsidize new ventures for Nick Bez.

Who is Nick Bez that he has such an influence? I suggest that a Congressional Committee investigate not only this project but the entire Bering Sea fishing situation.

On December 26, 1945, the Department of Interior got to the hat for this project which the Department of Agriculture said was unnecessary and the State Department insisted be continued. Something smells in the Bering Sea.

DEATHS FROM DIPHTHERIA

The Department of Health of every community is determined to prevent "any" deaths from diphtheria. Notwithstanding that it is known that diphtheria can be prevented by early use of antitoxin in adequate doses there are still thousands of unnecessary deaths yearly in the United States and Canada.

In an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association it is stated: "Wide variation in the size of the diphtheria death rates among children occurs in different states, thus, Delaware at last reports had no deaths per hundred thousand over a two year period and Arkansas, South Carolina and Oklahoma had a death rate of 13.5 per hundred thousand."

As the method of immunizing children against diphtheria is the same everywhere, that is by hypodermic injection of antitoxin, it is hard to understand why there should be such a difference in the percentage of diphtheria cases per hundred thousand of the population. The editorial explains this wide variation.

The available methods for control of diphtheria are: (1) the use of antitoxin in the treatment of cases; (2) the use of antitoxin in the prophylaxis of contacts; (3) the use of antitoxin in the immunization of children; (4) the use of antitoxin in the immunization of adults.

The application of modern immunization methods of susceptible persons on a community basis would serve to eradicate the disease, meanwhile, emphasis on the importance of sufficiently early administration of antitoxin in adequate doses would help prevent the unnecessary deaths of some 1,000 American children who die of diphtheria annually.

The lesson then, for us is to have children immunized against diphtheria to call physician early in cases of sore throat and for the physician to give large enough doses of antitoxin.

Spring Tailoring for Winter-Worn Lawns

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Released by Central Press Association

WELL-GROOMED turf makes an attractive edging for walks or driveways, but when melting snow reveals that over-winter the grass edges have become gouged from being backed into by automobiles or delivery trucks, do not despair. A little spring tailoring will soon make the damaged edges as good as new.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

A real estate transaction involving approximately $400,000 was consummated on February 15, 1926, in New York city, when Odell S. Hathaway transferred to Walter Reade, owner of a chain of 32 theatres, title to the last two remaining theatres in the Hathaway chain: the Kingston Opera House and Keeney's Theatre on Wall street.

Later Mr. Reade changed the name of Keeney's Theatre to Reade's Kingston Theatre, and announced that the Kingston Opera House would be either sold or leased for commercial purposes, other than for a theatre.

The new owner also proposed to enlarge the Wall street theatre, increasing its seating capacity to 2,500, and installing a large stage. While alterations were being made it was planned to continue to operate the old opera house as a theatre.

The announcement of his plans made by Mr. Reade at the time he purchased the two theatres was carried out. Today the old opera house building houses offices where the theatre once was, while the ground floor is still used for stores.

The Wall street theatre was enlarged as planned, and for a number of years has been one of the leading movie houses in the city. Levan S. Winne, senior member of the former firm of L. S. Winne and Co., hardware dealers on Wall street, died in his home on Maiden Lane on February 10, 1926.

At the time of his death he had been engaged in the hardware business for 34 years, first as a clerk with A. B. Paynter and later with Sahler and Reynolds.

Later he embarked in business with Abram Winchell and the firm for some years was known as Winne and Winchell. When Mr. Winchell retired from the firm he was succeeded by Ogden F. Winne and the firm name changed to L. S. Winne and Co.

Shortage of Materials, Holdup on Price Fixing May Mean Delay in Industry After G. M. Strike Is Settled

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 5—An impression prevails that when the General Motors strike is settled, business will pick up and the whole pattern for settlement of wage controversies will have been designed. The opposite happens to be the view taken by some of the men familiar with what is happening in the motor-car industry.

It is pointed out, for instance, that there are severe shortages of important parts needed to make finished automobiles. The public doesn't care to buy automobiles without locks or without upholstery or without some of the other vital accessories, and yet strikes or work stoppages of various kinds are still going on which will delay any big volume of cars from passing through the assembly line of dealers.

The impression, moreover, is generally that the steel strike situation has been clarified. Far from being settled, there are many fabrics of steel struggling with the wage and price problem. Then there is the matter of getting prices changed. The assumption is widespread that once the O.P.A. permits certain price increases so as to absorb wage rises, "I will be well. In some instances, where manufacturers have not had any strikes but have given the wage increases demanded, there are applications pending for increases in price which are not being acted upon due to the delays in writing rules and regulations. Meanwhile, the management of some plants are spending money to keep their operations going and waiting for action from Washington.

Even when the price increases are granted after a showing of facts, the sudden increase in the cost of materials due to strike or wage settlements occurring after the new prices are authorized will set the whole matter back to the O.P.A. for further revisions of the price structure.

It is said that in some industries as many as three or possibly four different applications for price changes will be made during the year as the costs of materials are made known to the manufacturers.

Economic System in Danger
What isn't generally realized is the whole economic system is in danger of being slowed up for many months to come. The optimists are saying that the second

Chungking Will See Many Important Things Happen

Chungking, March 5 (AP)—This provisional capital, scene of historic developments during the long war years, is expected to see the reorganization of the Chinese government and possible settlement of Chinese-Soviet differences.

Manchuria before the government moves back to Nanking. When Japan collapsed last August, no one in Chungking dreamed that this town still would be the seat of government at this late date. Moving has proved a bigger problem than expected.

Chungking, once described as a city of mud and courage, always will be honored as the citadel from which a tottering China fought back against a formidable Japan.

Many dark and bitter days were known in the years after the seat of government was established here in November, 1937. There were the "bombing seasons." Japanese air forces, virulently but vainly to obliterate the city. The last enemy bomb fell within Chungking's limits on August 31, 1941, in the worst bombing season ever experienced.

From humble buildings of bamboo and dried mud, hurriedly thrown up to replace the more pretentious structures destroyed, the government carried on.

More Improvements
Many scars of war remain, but already a better Chungking is emerging. Part of it is due to unintentional aid from the Japanese fliers. Every time a section was destroyed by bombs, the Chinese widened the streets and furthered the program for a better-designed city.

Now that the war has ended, many deeply-pitted streets have been repaired. The best of these jobs is on the street that passes the foreign office, which stands on a hill commanding a view of the Yangtze river. This building, once the French embassy, was damaged badly by Japanese bombs but has been restored.

The road has been resurfaced, sidewalks have been put in; and small trees line the curb.

The city lighting system still is subject to sudden failings, but is far better than in the war years. Fresh water is still hard to get. Coolies do a prosperous business selling water at the equivalent of 25 cents a bucket.

Despite the general easing of life, a single topic is paramount: "When do we leave Chungking?"

Find Parting Difficult
Some persons who endured all the war years here, with the cold, the inconvenience, the dark, the lack of night life, the shoddy restaurants and other causes of complaint, are finding that they really like the place after all, now that parting time is near.

There is much more entertaining than ever before. Most departing residents have almost literally tried to eat and drink their way out of town.

Customs of local servants contribute to the whimsicality of parties. Dignified diplomats still turn pale at the sight of waiters: dining guests in the ribs to attract their attention, but no one has yet succeeded in breaking the habit.

One newly-arrived diplomat who gave an elaborate dinner for Chinese and foreign notables took great pains to arrange for a fire and he installed extra charcoal braziers to combat the biting cold and put in special lights to remove some of the pervading darkness.

All went well until the first course was finished. Then to his horror, the host noticed that the waiters removing the fish plates were carelessly depositing the soiled dish knives on each guest's bread plate for use in the next course.

Acquaintances are willing to bet that if he has nightmares they probably consist of a grimacing Chinese waiter digging him in the ribs with a dirty fish knife.

But that's Chungking—the so-called-to-be capital of China.

ment of 400 and potential annual payroll of $683,800.

References to U.N.O.

Mr. Reina also spoke of the work done in trying to get the U.N.O. headquarters located near Kingston. Our success wasn't too great, he said, but if Greenwich, Conn., was ruled out as a site he thought that "we still have the best chance of any to get it."

The C. of C. also had been active in attempting to secure the elimination of the Broadway grade crossing, a committee had conferred with the Commissioner of Public Works in New York city and had received the promise that as soon as materials were available the work would be taken up.

The committee to secure a ferry and ultimately a bridge over the Hudson at Kingston had been active and it was understood that the ferry at least was a matter of the near future.

Before introducing the speaker of the evening Judge Cashin referred to the fact that the C. of C. had been in the "creeping" stage, but was now ready to walk. As to what it might accomplish would depend, he said, upon those present that evening—the home, since the lifeblood of the organization. The next thing, he said, was to build buildings so that larger industries can be brought to Kingston. The people could expect to have the Chamber of Commerce during this coming year ask them to subscribe to a fund for the erection of such buildings, it was declared.

Judge Cashin noted that there was present a boyhood friend of the speaker, Dr. M. H. Atkinson of Catskill, corner of Greene county, who had told of some boyhood incidents that indicated that that Harold Hoffman was a born leader—as his subsequent career in the political life of New Jersey and during his service in both World Wars had shown.

He then presented Lt. Col. and former Governor Harold G. Hoffman, "a great American and a nice person."

An indication of Col. Hoffman's quick wit and humor that was to mark his address, was seen in his opening remarks, when he found it worth while to make the trip to Kingston and find that some one, out of the graciousness of his heart could "find a few kind words" to say about the former Governor of New Jersey. Replying to Mayor Edelmuth's little "dig" he said, "I forget what the mayor's platform was, whether it was to put Broadway over or under, but whatever it was I'm sure, being a Democrat, he hasn't carried it out."

As to being a general, Col. Hoffman said, "I don't want to be a general. I want to be a Mr. The Democrats won't even let me be that. I expected to be a civilian at 3:30, but at 3:10 they told me my electrocardiograph wasn't just right and I was ordered into the Tilton General Hospital. I had to get a special leave to come here tonight." He said, "I am not a candidate for anything, still being in the Army."

In a serious mood, the speaker said: "This is a fine and friendly gathering of the Chamber of Commerce. Did you ever stop and think of the number of people who give such efforts and resources to such an organization? You don't find too many countries of the world where people are willing to give to projects of this kind without saying, 'What's in it for myself?' There are many people who are hitch-hikers, who are willing to sit back and let a few people do the work—work through which they will become the beneficiaries. Community cooperation is the mirror through which all civic progress is reflected, if we are willing to stand together." The speaker gave Edgar Guest's poem, "It Isn't Your Town, It's You."

Revival of Faith

"We need to have a revival of faith in our communities," continued Col. Hoffman; a revival of faith in the work in which we are engaged; in the businesses in which we are engaged; in our professions. We need to have a revival of faith in our states. We should take pride in the spirit of friendly competition. All of us want to strive to be a little bit ahead of others, while at the same time doing nothing harmful to our fellow men, or the community next to us.

"It is, finally, a need to have faith in our American Constitution, that has made America great. Every once in a while someone speaks about the Constitution—the charter of human liberties. I wonder how many people stop to think that while it's that—we speak about it on the 4th of July in an idealistic way—the Declaration of Independence was actually one of the greatest business documents ever written in the history of the world. It was written because the great man of that time had the foresight to understand that the new nation couldn't exist without a means of livelihood for its people. The colonies at that time were disjoined. There was fighting between them, a lot of graft and corruption and, above that, there seemed to be no means for our people to obtain a living with the competition of the other countries of the world.

"It was so bad that George Washington wrote to his friend, John Jay, who later became a justice, and expressed fear that we might have to go back under the British Crown, because there were no opportunities for a livelihood for our people. They got together in the Constitutional Convention and the Constitution grew out of that—that desire under which the game of business might be played in the United States.

"It established that one great thing, the inherent right of an American to own private property—a guarantee, I believe, that was provided the incentive through all the years has made our nation an example of true riches among the nations of the world."

Great Responsibility

Speaking of the great responsibility that has been laid upon America and that the whole world has come to look toward this country because of American courage, responsibility and leadership, Col. Hoffman said, "We must first learn to live with each other before we can set ourselves up as shining examples. If there should come another war, he said, it will be due to the failure of this generation to meet its responsibility."

During his talk Col. Hoffman paid tribute to Captain Seaman Jacobs of Kingston, "who served with great distinction in the New York Port of Embarkation." His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jacobs were present Monday night. He also spoke of Colonel Ed Messinger of Kingston, whose appointment to the Military Academy from Belmar, N. J., was due to Col. Hoffman's efforts. He said that Ed had made good, not only as a football player, but in this war. The last he heard of him he was serving as a colonel in the South Pacific area.

Col. Hoffman had been pleased to meet during the evening, Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, a daughter of James McNish, who was with the department of banking and insurance in New Jersey for some years. Also his old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Parsons of the Hotel Campbell in Poughkeepsie, and Dr. Atkinson, who he had not seen in many years.

The handsome floral centerpiece, which adorned the speakers' table at the dinner was much admired. It was provided by Burgeins.

Identify Suicide

New York, March 5 (AP)—A man identified by police as Walter E. Keifer, 48, accountant associated with the law firm of Bleakley, Platt and Walker, was killed today when he jumped or fell from the firm's 30th-floor office in the Equitable Building, 120 Broadway. The body plunged to the sidewalk among throngs of persons bound for offices in the financial district, but no one was injured.

Hoover to Study Europe's Plight

Former President Accepts Invitation to Examine War-Torn Areas

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today accepted an invitation by President Truman to go to Europe to survey food needs of that continent.

Mr. Hoover's acceptance was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson following the breakfast discussion of the food situation, attended by the former chief executive, who carried out foreign relief programs in Europe after World War I.

Anderson said Mr. Hoover will leave probably next week for the food survey which may require 30 days to complete.

It will be his objective to learn at first hand the actual needs of war-torn areas. Anderson said Hoover hoped to contact many persons who had been in the food relief program in Europe following the first World War.

The former president will take several persons with him, including Dr. F. R. Fitzgerald, food advisor to the Agriculture Department. The others are to be named by Hoover later, Anderson said. It was probable that Hoover would go to France first.

The secretary of agriculture said the government in sending Hoover abroad, sought to ascertain whether there is any "water" in statements of food relief requirements submitted by the various countries asking U. S. aid.

E. Schepmoes Honored By Wonderly Employees

Edgar B. Schepmoes, secretary of The Wonderly Company, was the guest of C. E. Wonderly and the employees of the store Monday evening at a surprise birthday dinner at the Airport Inn. The affair had been arranged by the employees of the store without the knowledge of Mr. Schepmoes and when the store closed Monday afternoon the guest and the employees, numbering 16, proceeded to the Inn where a roast beef dinner was served. After dinner Mr. Wonderly, acting as toastmaster, presented Mr. Schepmoes with gifts from the employees and also an employer. Among the gifts was a pen and several boxes of candy.

In presenting the gifts, Mr. Wonderly also reminded Mr. Schepmoes that he had been employed by the company for over 60 years, a record of which any person might well be proud.

Following the dinner a social hour was enjoyed and the various employees extended to Mr. Schepmoes their best wishes for many more years of service with the company and numerous more happy birthdays.

Krug Gets Immediate Committee Approval

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Confirmation of Julius A. Krug as Secretary of the Interior was unanimously recommended today by the Senate Committee on Public Lands and Surveys.

The committee acted in a little more than an hour after the tall, broad-shouldered nominee was called up for questioning.

The nomination now moves before the Senate where it probably will be acted upon tomorrow.

President Truman last week nominated Krug, former War Production Board Chairman, to succeed Harold L. Ickes, who resigned after a dispute which grew out of the President's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be Undersecretary of the Navy.

A.F.L. Demands Labor Equality in Germany

New York, March 5 (AP)—A formal demand for equal recognition with the World Federation of Trade Unions by the American Military Government in Germany and for permission to work with German Trade Unions in the zone has been filed by the A.F.L. with the occupying nations through the State Department, Matthew Woll, A.F.L. Vice-President announced.

The demand resulted from a resolution passed by Irving J. Brown, A.F.L. representative in Europe, that A.M.G. labor policies have been secretly dictated by Sidney Hillman, C.I.O. Political Action Committee Chairman, who toured Germany as a member of a special commission of the W.F.T.U.

Motion Is Granted In Suit Brought Against the City

The matter was argued at special term at Albany on February 21, before Justice Schirck by Francis Martocci for plaintiffs and corporation Counsel Arthur B. Ewig appeared in opposition.

In his decision Justice Schirck holds that the respective boards will be given review by the City Charter to fix the compensation and that "the plaintiffs' right to their increases of salary became vested when the resolution calling for such increases had been duly promulgated by the bodies having jurisdiction."

No triable issue was raised by the defense that the 1946 budget as finally adopted carried no provision for such increases, the Court states, and Justice Schirck continues, "a vested legal right will be given review by the board of the city's finances, failed to provide for such vested right in its budget."

Justice Schirck holds that "while the method of payment of such judgment is before the court at this time, it may be pointed out that means are available for the payment of judgments and claims apart from the budget."

Tense World Awaiting Churchill's Address

Fulton, Mo., March 5 (AP)—The tense atmosphere of a great occasion took hold of this cloistered little midwestern college town today around the modest stage set for a major address by Winston Churchill on "The Sinews of Peace."

The small, creek-pierced campus of Westminster College was roped off and for a moment all ticket holders and Missouri state Guardsmen were ordered posted at 179 intersections.

Here they call it "C" day, with full honors for the eloquent man from Westminster, London, or "C" day, with a measure of tribute for President Truman who endorsed the unique invitation and who had the assignment of introducing the former Prime Minister in the college gymnasium at 3:30 P. M. (CST).

There was no official inkling of Churchill's message before time for him to speak, but Westminster's president Dr. Franc L. (Bullet) McCluer said he was sure that, especially in this setting, "The very heart of America," it would go far in promoting international understanding.

Reparations and Colonies Snag Italy's Peace Treaty

London, March 5 (AP)—Two major problems—reparations and colonies—are holding up the draft of the Italian peace treaty, it was learned today, but sources close to the Deputy Foreign Ministers' Council denied there would be any postponement of the Paris Peace Conference, scheduled for not later than May 2.

The Russians were reported willing to agree on payment of Italy of $300,000,000 in reparations, provided the United States and Britain waive any claims. The Russians were said to be asking about $100,000,000 of this for herself, with the remainder earmarked for small countries which suffered at Italy's hands.

Mac's Authority Extends Over Manchuria; Byrnes

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority as Supreme Allied Commander in Japan extends to all areas where there are Japanese forces, including Russian-controlled Manchuria.

The subject came up at a press conference in which Byrnes was asked for comment on news reports from Dairen, China, that the Russians have removed thousands of Japanese soldiers to Siberia for forced labor.

Byrnes told reporters that at the moment he had no comment because no official reports of such removals have come through.

More Turkeys

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—New York state turkey raisers plan to raise 598,000 turkeys during 1946, a two per cent increase over the 586,000 raised last year, a joint federal-state agricultural bulletin reported. The estimated increase is based on the 67,000 turkeys born on farms in January 1, 1946, compared with 47,000 January 1, 1945.

New V.A. Bill

Washington, March 5 (AP)—A new $114,000,000 administrative fund for the Veterans Administration was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee. It was the major item in a deficiency supply bill which also carries funds for the Social Security Board, the Agricultural Department and the Postoffice Department.

Guerrillas Liquidated

Madrid, March 5 (AP)—Forty armed Spanish guerrillas were crossed the border from France "because they heard a monarchy had been established in Spain" were "liquidated" by civil guards in a mountain pass in southern Santander Province, Santander's civil governor announced today.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco of Spain has served notice on the United States that he has no intention of leaving office under Allied pressure.

A State Department official reported today that Franco, apparently anticipating the Anglo-American-French declaration against his government, set forth his stand in a note received here 24 hours before the three power statement was issued yesterday.

The note, containing vigorous assertions that Spain could run its own affairs without outside intervention, was delivered at the State Department by Juan Francisco de Cardenas, Spanish Ambassador.

Phone Workers Set for Walkout

Plans Are Completed for Strike on Thursday

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Minimizing the effectiveness of last-minute government intervention, the National Federation of Telephone Workers announced today that plans are complete for a nationwide walkout of 250,000 members day after tomorrow.

A federation spokesman told reporters there was little indication that today's conference called by the Federal Conciliation Service would result in settlement of wage disputes between the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and 17 NFW local unions.

However, labor department officials expressed confidence privately that the strike can be averted.

Today's meeting involves the A. T. & T. and only one of the 17 unions—the Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers. The session was called by Edgar L. Warren, chief of the labor department's conciliation service.

Bargaining between A. T. & T. and the long lines union has deadlocked over union demands for an 18 1/2 cent an hour wage increase and the company's offer of 15 cents.

The Federation spokesman declared that all 17 unions involved in the strike threat have agreed to reach no individual agreement unless assured that settlements likewise would be effected in the other disputes.

The NFW contemplates that picket lines established by members of the 17 local unions will be honored by the remainder of the NFW's 51 member locals.

G.O.P. House Bloc Is in Full Control Of Housing Battle

Coalition With Southern Democrats Rips Vitals From President's Pet Program

Washington, March 5 (AP)—House Republicans—in complete charge of home building legislation because of a bloc of southern Democrats—came forward today with their own substitute for the administration's battered down housing bill.

The G.O.P. Deep South coalition yesterday defeated 161 to 92 what President Truman called the "heart" of his homes-for-veterans program—a provision calling for $600,000,000 in federal subsidies to boost output of scarce building materials without hiking prices.

The same team last week denied the other major administration request—for authority to put ceilings on all existing dwellings.

The Republican bill would deny the government power to clamp price ceilings on new houses as well. This is the one big issue to be settled before the House tosses the housing problem over to the Senate.

The housing legislation, after the administration suffered one defeat after another, still embodied these provisions as it came up for final disposition.

1. Priorities for veterans on building materials to construct homes in rural areas as well as cities.

2. Price ceilings for new homes.

3. Authority for the Housing Administrator to issue directives to other government agencies, including O.P.A., on matters related to housing under this provision.

There appeared to be general agreement to write into whatever bill is passed a provision to increase by $1,000,000,000 the government's authority to insure mortgages on new homes.

This ten leaves price ceilings on new homes the only major difference between the Republican bill and the trimmed-down administration measure.

British Oppose U.N.O. Action Against Franco

London, March 5 (AP)—Highly placed sources said today that the British Government has rejected a French suggestion that the question of the Franco regime in Spain be brought before the United Nations Security Council.

These sources said the French proposal was made in notes sent last week to Britain, the United States and Russia.

They said Alfred Duff Cooper, British Ambassador to France, submitted the rejection note to Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, but that conversations were continuing in Paris.

The rejection was reportedly based on continued British insistence that the replacement of Generalissimo Franco as head of the Spanish state was primarily a problem for the Spanish people and that further "outside influence" would only serve to strengthen Franco.

British Writer Comments On America's 'Highbrows'

By WILLA MARTIN

New York, March 5 (AP)—Hannen Swaffer, veteran English journalist now visiting in the U. S., thinks America with its restlessness and excitability is wonderful but nothing about the country is more incredible to him than the lowbrows who pretend to be highbrows.

"In England a person is intellectual or he isn't," he says. "If he is a lowbrow, he has no trafficking with culture. But you have thousands of people in America who like to pretend. The pretenders carry books about things they are not interested in."

Swaffer is tall, gaunt, 66, and a veteran of 40 years in fleet street. His hair is long, his collar Pickwickian. He writes for three English publications: "The People," with a circulation of five and a half million; "The Daily Herald," an official paper of the Labor Party with one and three quarters million; and "John Bull," a weekly with one and a half million.

Shifts to Politics. For years Hannen Swaffer was considered England's leading drama critic, but today his love of the theatre is being submerged in a zeal for the work of the English Labor Party. Now he is interested only in plays with a political point of view. Eschewing "Hamlet" and "Antigone" and even musicals on this trip he has concentrated on "Anna Lucasta" with its all-Negro cast, "State of the Union" with its satire on politics, "Born Yesterday" with its story of bribery of a Congressman, "A Magnificent Yankee," which concerns a progressive New Englander, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

American Overwrite. The elderly journalist has found all these "vital" though he thinks American playwrights tend to overwrite and go on with love interest and trick endings after the play actually is over.

Confident that he knows more about England than any other English journalist, he is busy reading American authors. Swaffer thinks more readable and worthwhile than popular fiction is published here than in England. He considers Louis Bromfield, the best American author of popular fiction, Sinclair Lewis a great satirist, his "Babbitt" one of the great novels of all times.

Drama in Every Street. To him, "it is exciting to read American books and find in them revelations of life I have never seen. In America, because of racial mixtures and the lack of assimilation especially in your large cities, there is drama in every street."

Then the man who has been called by George Bernard Shaw "the most remarkable man to walk down Fleet Street in our time" was back talking of his Labor Party's plans. "It is the first liberal plan the world has ever known. We have abolished privilege and now are doing away with poverty, you know. We have plans for roads, parks, education. It is a spiritual resurgence of the British people. If this program fails—it should take five years—England will go completely Communist."

The World Today

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

Paris, March 5—Will Generalissimo Francisco Franco capitulate to demands for a democratic form of government in Spain or will it take another terrible civil war to settle the issue?

When I made a survey of the situation in Madrid a month ago it seemed clear that Franco recognized his dictatorship was doomed by Allied opposition and that he was maneuvering for a graceful, face-saving exit from the rank of chief of state. I believe that he had hopes for retaining command of the Spanish army under a restoration of the monarchy, although this obviously would lay him open to a charge of trying to control the new government through his military strength.

The signs are that the generalissimo still is maneuvering for a compromise. Be that as it may, this is a tense moment for Europe, because it wouldn't take much to set the civil conflict of 1936-39 in motion again.

Militarily Franco's position is far more powerful than it was when he overthrew the Republican regime in 1939 after three years of horror and established his dictatorship. He has had plenty of time to consolidate his ground and he hasn't neglected the military side.

The Spanish standing army is estimated at 700,000 men and while it is equipped mainly with light arms that's a lot of strength numerically. Moreover, Franco has been building highways and bridges which may have been designed for peaceful purposes but which would be invaluable for the quick movement of troops and supplies. In the vicinity of Madrid I saw many concrete road-doubts which commanded the highway leading to the capital. Obviously the generalissimo has anticipated the contingency of further civil war. It is equally clear he has had in mind that he who controls the army controls Spain.

As for a expression of public sentiment in Spain, you could hold your ear to the ground until frost-bitten without hearing very much worth while.

However, there are two things which the people certainly desire. They want an absolutely free national election at which they may choose their own form of government, and they want to achieve that election without another civil war.

That presents a delicate problem for the Allies, because, while a firm hand is needed, obviously a wrong move might precipitate a tragedy. The situation reminds me of a circumstance I encountered each summer while camping out in the great Maine woods on fishing expeditions. Everywhere you see signs warning you not to be careless about throwing away lighted matches or cigarettes as they may start terrible forest fires. You could cause an awful conflagration by flipping a match into the Spanish tinder right now.

CUSTOM BARS WOMEN

Women are not allowed within the lobby of the Parliament House in Queensland, Australia, and when a member recently ushered his wife to a seat he was told she was "out of bounds." He demanded that the parliamentary rule barring women be quoted, and the Speaker was stumped. After long search of the records, the only reason he could give was that "it has been the practice for years."

BABY BORN AT SEA

A girl from Belfast, Northern Ireland, widow of an airman killed overseas, gave birth to a boy on the steamer Cambria, while on her way to Liverpool, England. Successful delivery of the child was due to the skill of a stewardess, Mrs. J. Dyer, a former St. John Ambulance nurse, who said: "I once helped at a birth in an air shelter, but in a tiny cabin it was even more of a test. The bonnie boy, seven pounds, was named John Cambria Wright."

Biggest Holdout Brigade Still Plagues Both Major Leagues

Rose Schatzel Wallops 589 In Annual Gotham Tourney

Local Female Ace Takes Lead in Class A Journal-American Singles Play

Blasting out a sizzling 227 in her opening game, Rose Schatzel proceeded to establish a new high single score in the Class A singles of the Journal-American bowling tournament in New York City Sunday when she wound up with a hefty 589 triple. Mrs. Schatzel's other scores were 174 and 187. With only one more week-end left in the annual Gotham tourney, Mrs. Schatzel's 589 triple stands an excellent chance of remaining on the top.

The new high score registered by the local female star soared over the previous high of 584 posted by Jane Fox of New Jersey. The Jones Darr-Ettes, with Rose Schatzel, Doris Wolff, Marge Anderson, Etta Ginder and Marge Anderson, posted 2330 in the team event.

Dempsey Is Named Head of Promoters' Group in Boxing

Critics Say Mauler's New Job Makes Him Judge Landis of Ring; Salary Is High

New York, March 5 (AP)—Jack Dempsey came back to the fight game's big-time today with a job that boxing promoters he'll work with said would make him sort of a Judge Landis of the boxing business—outside of New York. His salary is estimated at between $50,000 to $100,000 yearly.

Of course, none of the promoters stood up in meeting to say Promoter Mike Jacobs in connection with the Old Manassa Mauler's new combined spot as president of Boxing Promoters of America, Inc., and a director of Adams Hat Company in charge of public relations, sports activities and possibly snapping brims. But reading the script, you didn't need a blueprint to get somewhat of an idea about it.

As a matter of fact, Jack himself, came closer than anyone to speaking a piece concerning the possibility of buckling Uncle Mike in the nose-mashing industry.

"Today, in New York," he contended yesterday during the cocktail and hors d'oeuvres ceremony announcing his new posts, "if you don't fight for one man—you don't fight."

His job will be chiefly to select, for broadcast purposes each Monday, the "fight of the week" among the shows scheduled by the Members of Promoters, Inc. That's one of the big parts of his deal with the hat outfit, which will provide his fancy salary, for a reported six years.

In addition, the promoters announced, he will (a) assist in making matches, (b) advise promoters against matches that may prove detrimental to the best interests of boxing and (c) aid boxers who are deserving of a chance to fight for the championship, but who for some reason or another are denied their rightful opportunity.

Promoters, Inc., is closely knit now in Boston, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Des Moines. Jack, himself, leaves today for California to see out additional members on the Pacific coast.

Sarasota, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Manager Joe Cronin knows just how to make practice drills attractive to his Boston Red Soxers. He let them hit, hit and hit yesterday they had almost four hours of steady clouting and slugger Ted Williams, who loves it most of all, got up from a sickbed to join in the fun.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees' Big Three—President Larry MacPhail, Manager Joe McCarthy and farm boss George Weiss—are conferring on which players to keep in the camp here and at Bradenton, across the gulf. It was believed the three chiefs also were discussing possible trades in order to get hurling help for McCarthy. The Yanks manager was cheered on his arrival here over the glowing reports about catcher Bill Dickey. The veteran hit, hit and hit the hardest workers at this base and Coach Johnny Neun says he looks as good as ever.

Miami, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Rookie members of the New York Giants are wondering what keeps Dick Bartell going. The 39-year-old veteran infielder is the hardest working player in the camp and still is the same old pepper-pot. Bartell wants a playing berth instead of coaching job.

Robinson Is Quizzed
Daytona Beach, Fla., March 5 (AP)—After answering questions from newspapermen and posing for photographers yesterday, Jackie Robinson, the former U.C.L.A. Negro baseball and football star, was set to get a real workout today. Robinson and John Wright, a Negro pitcher, made their joint training debuts with the Brooklyn-Montreal groups.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal pitchers struck out 14 of their teammates and allowed only 12 hits and one run in an intra-squad game Monday. Right-handed Red Barrett and Freddie Martin allowed only one hit in three innings.

Lakeland, Fla., March 5 (AP)—The World Champion Detroit Tigers worked for newsreel cameras for two hours yesterday and then participated in a light fielding and baserunning session in preparation for their Grapefruit League opener with the Washington Senators Thursday.

Bowling In The Pocket

CHARLIE MANO

Echoes of a great week-end in bowling: Congratulations to George Robinson for his magnificent showing in the K.B.A. tournament and Van Kleek's Jones Dairy Hudson Valley League struggle.

For sheer dramatic intensity, the Saturday night all-local duel between Van's and Jones was the greatest in Kingston bowling annals.

George "Curly" Flemings repaired his prestige with a hot-hand in the all-evens.—You'll never see a more dramatic finish than Van Kleek's 10th frame windup against the dairymen.—Cliff Quick, Charlie Gruenwald and George Robinson struck out to ice the game.

The jam-packed house roared its approval.—It was strictly a pro-Van Kleek audience.—The keggers battered alleys 9 and 10 like they owned them. The guy who does own them didn't do so well.—Reports the alleys were tough were strictly rumor—at least for a night.

The brilliant exhibition was a credit to both teams. Jones Dairy was going to place in the league race, but it rolled as if the title was at stake. The fact that they outrolled Van's in total pinage was evidence of their unremitting warfare. Just in case you haven't realized it up to now, Ad Jones seems to do pretty well when the heat is on.

PETTY STUFF COULD BE OMITTED FROM KEY GAMES

Some petty stuff broke loose during the match. When nerves are taut and the desire to win is consuming, those things will happen. But over the long run, the breaks even up. Bickering between rival players is definitely in bad taste. Meanwhile fans are morally obligated to keep their rooting impersonal. This wasn't true Saturday night. Bowling can do very well without that kind of stuff. If you want to root for a certain team, that is your prerogative. The war was fought and won for freedom of expression. But let off individuals. It makes for bad blood which in turn creates unpleasant situations.

Tony Sparando removed any doubts about his current bowling form yesterday, when he pounded a rousing 911 4-game total to pull down first place in the Wilmington sweepstakes. . . . The Who's Who of bowling competed in that one.

Ardy Varnapova must be burned to a fare-thee-well. One pin cost him $1,500. . . . This week-end he and Sparando will be doubles partners against Joe Williams and Junie McMahon in a 24-game doubles test for $2,500.

"Stogie" Robinson is the Bowler of the Year in our book. . . . Max Chirlin, Fred Rice and J. Jones are the three best bowlers in the heat of the tournament. . . . Randy Kelder, who is about to leave for another hitch with Uncle Sam, has completely changed his style of delivery. . . . Now relies on a slow ball and a fast ball. . . . We wish Randy the best of everything in his second swing around the khaki circuit.

As a first three-grader and his lovely wife with him, well, the Articles of War shouldn't be too much of a stomach for the next 18 months.

City tournament keggers rolled the singles and doubles as if they were chasing engines. . . . Let's slow it up next year, fellows. That kind of stuff is bad for the heart. . . . Ward DuBois and his sweetheart went into trunks in the 10th frame when Ad Jones and George Flemings were threatening his 1233 doles lead.

It was a classic and understandable example of jumping nerves. . . . We are happy to report that Ward survived the ordeal in pretty fair shape.

Charlie Manfro did more sweating than any five B-17 ground crews.—But, alas, to no avail! That ogre Robinson came along to snatch fate and fortune from right under his pin-patting whiskers in the very last quad. . . . But it was a nice show, anyway, Charlie, and we're proud of your 683 singles!

ELBOW ACTION: One of the common flaws in the form of the bowling beginner, and one that destroys both comfort and control, is pointing the elbows outward (away from the body) as the stance is taken and as the fingers are fitted into the holes of the ball.

Both elbows must be pointed downward—to the floor—and should rest on the INSIDE of the HIPS with the ball held in the PALM of the LEFT HAND.

After the ball is AWAY from the body, the left arm is extended in a straight forward line. Holding the ball underneath is much like holding a tray. Only by doing this can proper elbow action follow—the simple action of pushing the ball forward so that the elbow continues to point to the floor.

This, again, is the push-away of bowling—the pushaway that takes place in unison with the first step, whether in a three or four step delivery.

After the ball has been pushed away, and only if it has been pushed out far enough, the weight of the ball PULLS the body down into a comfortable crouched position during the stride and the arm swings back in a STRAIGHT line—the line of controlled action.

With the elbows against and inside the hips (turned inward), the ball held comfortably away, in front of the body, the fingerholes will always be TOWARD the body (behind the ball) and the hand will be fitted into them well toward the lower side of the ball.

At the end of the forward swing the hand will thus be in position to control the ball—to turn to the right for a reverse, to send the ball straight, or to turn to the left for a hook.

Farmers Win By Default

The undefeated Kerhonkson Farmers won a game in a different way for a change Sunday when Ellenville defaulted a regularly scheduled contest in the Napanoch Institution League. The victory was Kerhonkson's 12th in a row. Thursday night Kerhonkson will meet New Paltz at home and on Saturday, March 9, the Farmers will appear in Saugerties for a return engagement.

Freeman League

Team 3 of the Freeman Bowling League continued on their way for league honors Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. alleys when they took a pair of games from Team 1. Bernie Leaky, the Sawkill terror, posted a 477 triple and 193 to take all honors. Walt (?) Sharp had a 182 and 475 for the league leaders. George Maglie again contributed to the good and welfare of his brother bowlers.

Team 4, led by Knute Beichert with a 191 single and 485 triple took all three games from the slipping Team 2. Nick Huber had a 422 for the losers. It is understood that Irwin Thomas threatened to dispose of his bowling shoes after that terrific 97.

A.P. Survey Shows 45 Players Still Balking at Terms

Red Sox and Redlegs Only Teams With Full List of Satisfied Athletes; Dodgers Are Minus 11

New York, March 5 (AP)—Big league baseball bosses were being besieged today by the biggest holdout brigade that ever clamored for more money.

With every major league training camp officially launched and the deadline reached for all hands to be present and accounted for, an Associated Press poll revealed today that at least 45 players were still outside the fold. And that the first man to be dropped by the Mexican Professional League.

'Want More Dough'

With the exception of the Boston Red Sox and the Cincinnati Reds, every club is represented in the "we want more dough" club, with the Brooklyn Dodgers "boasting" 11 players in that select circle.

The most prominent of the unsigned group include the Dodgers' Dixie Walker and Pete Reiser, the St. Louis Cardinals' Marty Marion and Whitey Kuroski, the Browns' Vern Stephens and Dick Siebert, Cleveland's Frank Hayes and the New York Yankees' Ernie Bonham.

Others of perhaps lesser quality include the following: National League—Boston, outfielders Chuck Workman and Butch Nieman, infielder Ted Cieslak and pitchers Jim Trexler and Charlie Cozart; Brooklyn, pitcher Ralph Branca, Cy Buker, Art Herring, Chet Kohn and Joe Hatten; Philadelphia, pitcher Ed Basinski and Leighton Kimball; Chicago, outfielder Harry Lowrey; New York, pitcher Adrian Zabala and outfielders Charlie Mead and Jesse Pike; Philadelphia pitcher Roy Humphries and infielder Max Butcher, catcher Bill Skelton and infielders Frank Gustine and Pete Coscarart.

American League—Chicago, infielder Gene Nance; Cleveland, infielder Mickey Rocco, pitcher Amos Evers and outfielder Stan Benjamin; Detroit, infielders Eddie Lake and Bobby Maier; New York, outfielder Turk Stearns and infielder Joe Buzas; Philadelphia, outfielders Frank DeMarco, Hal Beck and Gene Handley; and pitcher Phil Marchionni; Washington, outfielder Stan Spence.

Brooklyn President Branch Rickey admitted that while he was not particularly worried about the others, he was deeply concerned over the refusal of Walker and Reiser to report until their salary squabbles were ironed out. The veteran Dixie, who led the National League in batting in 1944 and in runs batted in last year, won't budge from his Birmingham, Ala., haven until Rickey agrees to boost his $20,000 salary of last year. Reiser, the senior circuit's batting king in '41, is demanding a 100 per cent increase over his $7,500 salary of '42, his last year before induction.

Marion doesn't fancy the cut inflitted upon his $13,500 figure of last year by Card Prexy Sam Breadon and wants the same contract which made him the highest paid man in the club in '45. Kuroski, who led his mates in batting last year with .323 and drove out 21 home runs to set a new high for National League third basemen, promises to wage a stubborn holdout campaign. It was learned that the hard hitting blind Pennsylvanian, who is understood to have received $9,000 for his services last year, has asked for a $5,000 raise.

Stephens Still Out

Stephens, American League home run king, twice has rejected Browne terms and has returned to his Long Branch, Calif., home prepared for a long holdout siege. Hayes, iron man catcher of the Tribe, has not even bothered to confer with Manager Lou Boudreau while Bonham sulks in his lone, Calif., home brooding over the giant-slash Yankee Boss Larry MacPhail admitted he gave the veteran fork ball hurler.

Two Performances Are Scheduled for Uncle Tom's Cabin

The Reed Lawton Players will present two performances of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Kingston today under the sponsorship of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion.

This venerable classic of the American stage will be depicted as a serious, all-musical production in a matinee performance for school children at 3:30 and the main showing at 8:15 p. m. in the municipal auditorium.

Featuring a cast of distinguished performers, including Mr. Lawton and Mario Cozzi, of Metropolitan Opera fame, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is a melange of Stephen Foster melodies, old-time minstrel acts and straight drama. The show is embellished by an a cappella choir and brass band.

Play Still Potent
The significance of the play is just as potent today as it was 93 years ago, when Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote it and set a nation aflame. The Lawton players have scored sensational hits all over the country with their straightforward dramatic and musical interpretation.

Supporting Lawton and Mario Cozzi are Dorothy Hood, Wade Dent, Eileen Kelly and a host of capable performers. Simon Legree, who auctioned off Uncle Tom for $1,000 will be faithfully portrayed along with Uncle Tom, Little Eva, Ophelia St. Clare, Lawyer Marks, Augustine St. Clare.

By combining the Stowe classic with the immortal American grass-roots melodies of Stephen Foster this production depicts a truly historic chapter in the life of America and make it possible for everyone to see again this world-renowned play and enjoy the nostalgic music.

Ten-Year Vigil Is Hinted in Newest De-Nazifying Code

Berlin, March 5 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, deputy chief of the U. S. Military Government, announced today a sweeping new de-Nazification law placing in German hands more responsibility for purging the nation and indicating a commitment for Americans to remain in Germany at least 10 years.

Gen. Clay estimated that at least 1,000,000 and perhaps 4,000,000 of the 15,000,000 Germans in the American zone will be subject to punishment under the new law, which was drawn up by three German provincial minister-presidents in the zone for trial of the cases by German courts.

The law specifies varying degrees of guilt for all Germans who aided Hitler, ranging from major offenders to minor cases classified as "followers." Major offenders are liable to as much as 10 years in a labor camp, confiscation of property and loss of all rights for a minimum of 10 years, including the right to own an automobile. The minimum sentence for major offenders is two years.

Full Retribution
Gen. Clay said the American Military Government was determined to see that the sentences were carried out. Asked if this meant the Americans definitely intended to stay in Germany, he replied:

"As far as the Military Government can commit the United States."

Major offenders are defined as those who out of political motives committed crimes against victims or opponents of National Socialism, were responsible for outrages, or gave major political, economic, propagandistic or other support to Nazi tyranny.

Clay estimated that at least a year will be required to carry out the trials. While Germans themselves will do the prosecuting, Clay emphasized that the proceedings will be checked closely to see that there is no leniency in applying the law.

A preview of spring which has been staged in Kingston since the first of the month reached a new high on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the official city thermometer recorded 61 degrees. This morning the thermometer was recording 42 degrees at 9 o'clock.

Yesterday was the warmest day so far experienced this year in Kingston. At 4 o'clock in the morning, the official thermometer recorded 25 degrees, but as the sun rose it gradually became much warmer until the record high was recorded during the afternoon.

The spring like temperatures that have prevailed since the first of the month is eating away the big drifts of snow that have lined the curbs along the streets.

Legislative Roundup

Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Four hundred state employees affiliated with a C.I.O. Union march on Albany today to press for permanent salary increases and other legislation.

The employees, claiming to represent 36 institutions, departments and divisions of the state service and 8,000 C.I.O. members, are members of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America.

James V. King, New York district president, said the delegation sought direct contact with legislators "to get action" on bills to: Make the emergency salary boosts permanent, provide for a 25-year pension plan for institutional workers, establish "adequate grievance machinery and protection of the right to organize, extend the unemployment insurance law to cover government employees, grant a 5-day, 40-hour week with time and one-half for overtime, and reclassify various categories of state workers.

King said a committee from the delegation would seek a conference with Governor Dewey. Meanwhile the Legislature ground out laws steadily but bills kept pouring into the hopper in the race against the Thursday deadline for introduction of measures and the scheduled adjournment on March 23.

Legislation continuing New York city commercial rent control for one year beyond its July 1 expiration date was sponsored by the joint legislative committee studying rents. Several amendments were offered. The principal one would exclude all new construction from rent control.

Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, committee chairman, said a bill providing for state control of residential rents would be introduced later. It would take effect when O.P.A. control was ended. The Legislative Bipartisan veterans Committee meets today to put the final touches on a bill that would give New York state veterans of World War 2 cash bonuses ranging from $50 to $250, depending on the type and length of service.

The committee will submit a preliminary report tomorrow and a final report next week. Senator William F. Condon of Yonkers, chairman, said the committee would ask the legislature next week to continue its life for another year.

Nobel Scientist Defends America's Control of A-Bomb

New York, March 5 (AP)—Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel Prize scientist who was instrumental in the development of the atom bomb, says that America could not afford to turn its atom secrets over to the world "as it is now constituted."

Regarding giving the secrets to a world government, Urey told a University of Chicago Club of New York dinner last night:

"Such a super world government is not a solution to world power. There is also the possibility that a tyrant will get control of the world through such an instrument. The atom bomb is characteristic of a tyrant's weapon. It is just the weapon that would enable a dictator to sit firmly in his seat and no one could do anything about it."

Dr. Urey also declared that Americans would lose much of their present liberty if the atom bomb became available to many nations, adding:

"Fear of war will lead to repressive measures at all times. We will be watching for spies continually, fearful that they are planting atom bombs under our cities, so we will have to place more power in the federal government."

"And we will have to modify the government, placing more power in one man, or one group of men."

Hoffman's Speech; Fine Report

ment of 400 and potential annual payroll of $683,900.

References to U.N.O.

Mr. Reima also spoke of the work done in trying to get the U.N.O. headquarters located near Kingston. Our success wasn't too great, he said, but if Greenwich, Conn., was ruled out as a site he thought that "we still have the best chance of any to get it."

The C. of C. also had been active in attempting to secure the location of the "Broadway grade crossing," a committee had been organized with Commissioner Maltbie in New York city and had received the promise that as soon as a location was available, the work would be taken up.

The committee to secure a ferry and ultimately a bridge over the Hudson at Kingston had been active and it was understood that the ferry at least was a matter of the near future.

Before introducing the speaker of the evening, Judge Cashin referred to the fact that the C. of C. had been in the "creeping" stage, but was now ready to walk. As to what it might accomplish would depend, he said, upon those present that evening—the bone, sinew and lifeblood of the organization.

The next thing, he said, was to build buildings so that larger industries can be brought to Kingston. The people could expect to have the Chamber of Commerce during this coming year ask them to subscribe to a fund for the erection of such buildings, it was declared.

Judge Cashin noted that there was present a boyhood friend of the speaker, Dr. M. H. Atkinson of Catskill, corner of Greene county, who had told of some hood incidents that indicated that Harold Hoffman was a born leader—as his subsequent career in the political life of New Jersey and during his service in both World Wars had shown.

He then presented Lt. Col. and former Governor Harold G. Hoffman, "a great American and a nice person."

An indication of Col. Hoffman's quick wit and humor that was to mark his address, was seen in his opening remarks, when he found it worth while to make the trip to Kingston and find that some one, out of the graciousness of his heart could "find a few kind words to say about the former Governor of New Jersey." Replying to Mayor Edelmuth's little "dig," he said, "I forget what the mayor's platform was, whether it was to put Broadway over or under, but whatever it was I'm sure, being a Democrat, he hasn't carried it out."

As to being a general, Col. Hoffman said, "I don't want to be a general, I want to be a Mr. The Democrats won't even let me be that. I expected to be a civilian at 3:30, but at 3:10 they told me my electrocardiograph wasn't just right and I was ordered into the Tilton General Hospital. I had to get a special leave to come here tonight." He said "I am not a candidate for anything, still being in the Army."

In a serious mood, the speaker said, "This is a fine and friendly gathering of the Chamber of Commerce. Did you ever stop and think of the number of people who give such efforts and resources to such an organization? You don't find too many countries of the world where people are willing to give to projects of this kind without saying 'What's in it for myself?' There are many people who are hitch-hikers who are willing to sit back and let a few people do the work—work through which they will become the beneficiaries. Community cooperation is the mirror through which all civic progress is reflected, if we are willing to stand together." The speaker gave Edgar Guest's poem, "It Isn't Your Town, It's You."

Revival of Faith
"We need to have a revival of faith in our communities," continued Col. Hoffman; a revival of faith in the work in which we are engaged, in the businesses in which we are engaged, in our professions. We need to have a revival of faith in our states. We should take pride in the spirit of friendly competition. All of us want to strive to be a little bit ahead of others, while at the same time doing nothing harmful to our fellow men, or the community next to us.

"It is, finally, a need to have faith in our American Constitution, that has made America great. Every once in a while someone speaks about the Constitution, the charter of human liberties. I wonder how many people stop to think that while it's that we speak about it on the 4th of July in an idealistic way—the Declaration of Independence was actually one of the greatest business documents ever written in the history of the world. It was written because the great man of that time had the foresight to understand that the new nation couldn't exist without a means of livelihood for its people. The colonies at that time were disjoined. There was fighting between them, a lot of graft and corruption and above that, there seemed to be no means for our people to obtain a living with the competition of the other countries of the world."

"It was so bad that George Washington wrote to his friend, John Jay, who later became a justice, and expressed fear that we might have to go back under the British Crown, because there were no opportunities for a livelihood for our people. They got together in the Constitutional Convention, and the Constitution grew out of that, that desire under which the game of business might be played in the United States."

"It established that one great thing, the inherent right of an American to own private property—a guarantee, I believe, that has provided the incentive that through all the years has made our nation an example of true merit among the nations of the world."

Great Responsibility
Speaking of the great responsibility that has been laid upon America and the fact that the world has come to look toward this country because of American courage, responsibility and leadership, Col. Hoffman said, "We must first learn to live with each other before we can set ourselves up as shining examples. If there should come another war, he said, it will be due to the failure of this generation to meet its responsibility."

During his talk Col. Hoffman paid tribute to Captain Seaman Jacobs of Kingston, "who served with great distinction in the New York Port of Embarkation." His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jacobs were present Monday night. He also spoke of Colonel Ed Messenger of Kingston, whose appointment to the Military Academy from Belmar, N. J., was due to Col. Hoffman's efforts. He said that Ed had made good, not only as a football player, but in this war. The last he heard of him he was serving as a colonel in the South Pacific area.

Col. Hoffman had been pleased to meet during the evening, Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, a daughter of James McNish, who was with the department of banking and insurance in New Jersey for some years.

Louis Parsons of the Hotel Campbell in Poughkeepsie, and Dr. Atkinson, who he had not seen in many years.

The handsome floral centerpiece which adorned the speaker's table at the dinner was much admired. It was provided by Burgreens.

Huover to Study Europe's Plight

Former President Accepts Invitation to Examine War-Torn Areas

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today accepted an invitation by President Truman to go to Europe to survey food needs of that continent.

Mr. Hoover's acceptance was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson following a breakfast discussion of the food situation, attended by the former chief executive, who carried out foreign relief programs in Europe after World War I.

Anderson said Mr. Hoover will leave probably next week for the food survey which may require 30 days to complete.

It will be his objective to learn at first hand the actual needs of war-torn areas. Anderson said Hoover hoped to contact many persons who aided him in the food relief program in Europe following the first world war.

The former president will take several persons with him, including Dr. F. R. Fitzgerald, food allocation officer of the Agriculture Department. The others are to be named by Hoover later. Anderson said it was probable that Hoover would go to France first.

The secretary of agriculture said the government in sending Hoover abroad, sought to ascertain whether there is any "water" in statements of food relief requirements submitted by the various countries asking U. S. aid.

E. Schepmoes Honored By Wonderly Employees

Edgar B. Schepmoes, secretary of The Wonderly Company, was the guest of C. E. Wonderly and the employees of the store Monday evening at a surprise birthday dinner at the Airport Inn. The affair had been arranged by the employees of the store without the knowledge of Mr. Schepmoes, when the store closed Monday afternoon the guest and the employees, numbering 16, proceeded to the Inn where a roast beef dinner was served. After dinner Mr. Wonderly, acting as toastmaster, presented Mr. Schepmoes with gifts from the employees and also an employer. Among the gifts was a pen and several boxes of candy.

In presenting the gifts, Mr. Wonderly also reminded Mr. Schepmoes that aside from it being his birthday, he had been employed by The Wonderly Company for over 60 years, a record of which any person might well be proud.

Following the dinner a social hour was enjoyed and the various employees extended to Mr. Schepmoes their best wishes for many more years of service with the company and numerous more happy birthdays.

Krug Gets Immediate Committee Approval

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Confirmation of Julius A. Krug as Secretary of the Interior was unanimously recommended today by the Senate Committee on Public Lands and Surveys.

The committee acted in a little more than an hour after the tall, broad-shouldered nominee was called up for questioning.

The nomination now moves before the Senate, where it probably will be acted upon tomorrow.

President Truman last week nominated Krug, former War Production Board Chairman, to succeed Harold L. Ickes, who resigned in a dispute which grew out of the President's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be Under Secretary of the Navy.

A.F.L. Demands Labor Equality in Germany

New York, March 5 (AP)—A formal demand for equal recognition with the World Federation of Trade Unions by the American Military Government in Germany and for permission to work with German Trade Unions in all zones has been filed by the A.F.L. with the occupying nations through the State Department, Matthew Woll, A.F.L. Vice-President announced.

The demand resulted from a recent statement by Irving J. Brown, A.F.L. representative in Europe, that A.M.G. labor policies have been secretly dictated by Sidney Hillman, C.I.O. Political Action Committee Chairman, who just toured Germany as a member of a special commission of the W.F.T.U.

Motion Is Granted In Suit Brought Against the City

The matter was argued at special term at Albany on February 21, before Justice Schurck by Francis Martucci for plaintiffs and corporation Counsel Arthur B. Ewig appeared in opposition.

In his decision Justice Schurck holds that the respective boards had power under the City Charter to fix the compensation and that "the plaintiffs' right to the increases of salary being vested when the resolution calling for such increases had been duly promulgated by the bodies having jurisdiction."

No triable issue was raised by the defense that the 1946 budget as finally adopted carried no provision for such increases, the Court states, and Justice Schurck continues, "a vested legal right will be given recognition by the judgment of the court despite the fact that the legislative body, having control of the city's finances, failed to provide for such vested right in its budget."

Justice Schurck holds that "while the method of payment of such judgment is not before the court at this time, it may be pointed out that means are available for the payment of judgments and claims apart from the budget."

Tense World Awaiting Churchill's Address

Fulton, Mo., March 5 (AP)—The tense atmosphere of a great occasion took hold of this cloistered little midwestern college town today around the modest stage set for a major address by Winston Churchill on "The Sins of Peace."

The small, creek-pierced campus of Westminster College was roped off and forbidden to all but ticket holders and Missouri State Guardsmen were ordered posted at 179 intersections.

Here they call it "C" day, with full honors for the eloquent man from Westminster, London, or "C" day, with a measure of tribute for President Truman who introduced the unique invitation and who, in the assignment of introducing the former Prime Minister in the college gymnasium at 3:30 P. M. (CST).

There was no official inkling of Churchill's message before time for him to speak, but Westminster's president Dr. Franc L. (Bullet) McCluer said he was sure that, especially in this setting in "The very heart of America," it would go far in promoting international understanding.

Reparations and Colonies Snag Italy's Peace Treaty

London, March 5 (AP)—Two major problems—reparations and colonies—are holding up the draft of the Italian peace treaty, it was learned today, but sources close to the Deputy Foreign Ministers' Conference denied there would be any postponement of the Paris Peace Conference scheduled for not later than May 2.

The Russians were reported willing to agree on payment by Italy of $300,000,000 in reparations, provided the United States and Britain waive any claims. The Russians were said to be asking about $100,000,000 of this for herself, with the remainder earmarked for small countries which suffered at Italy's hands.

Mac's Authority Extends Over Manchuria; Byrnes

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority as Supreme Allied Commander in Japan extends to all areas where there are Japanese forces, including Russian-controlled Manchuria.

The subject came up at a press conference in which Byrnes was asked for comment on news reports from Dairen, China, that the Russians have removed thousands of Japanese soldiers to Siberia for forced labor.

Byrnes told reporters that at the moment he had no comment because "the removal of such removals have come through."

Y., March 5 (AP)—New York state turkey raisers plan to raise 598,000 turkeys during 1946, a two per cent increase over the 586,000 raised last year, a joint federal-state agricultural bulletin reported. The estimated increase is based on the 67,000 turkey hens on hand January 1, 1946, compared with 47,000 January 1, 1945.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco of Spain has served notice on the United States that he has no intention of leaving office under Allied pressure.

A State Department official reported today that Franco, apparently anticipating the Anglo-American-French declaration against his government, set forth his stand in a note received here 24 hours before the three power statement was issued yesterday.

The note, containing vigorous assertions that Spain could run its own affairs without outside interference, was delivered at the State Department by Juan Francisco de Cardenas, Spanish Ambassador.

Phone Workers Set for Walkout

Plans Are Completed for Strike on Thursday

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Minimizing the effectiveness of last-minute government intervention, the National Federation of Telephone Workers announced today that plans are complete for a nationwide walkout of 250,000 members day after tomorrow.

A federation spokesman told reporters there was little indication that today's conference called by the Federal Conciliation Service would result in settlement of wage disputes between the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and 17 NFW local unions.

However, labor department officials expressed confidence privately that the strike can be averted.

Today's meeting involves the A. T. & T. and only one of the 17 unions. The Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers. The session was called by Edgar L. Warren, chief of the labor department's conciliation service.

Bargaining between A. T. & T. and the long lines union has deadlocked over union demands for an 18 1/2 cent an hour wage increase and the company's offer of 15 cents.

The Federation spokesman declared that all 17 unions involved in the strike threat had agreed to reach no individual agreement unless assured that settlements likewise would be effected in the other disputes.

The NFW contemplates that picket lines established by members of the 17 local unions will be honored by the remainder of the NFW's 51 member locals.

G.O.P. House Bloc Is in Full Control Of Housing Battle

Coalition With Southern Democrats Rips Vitals From President's Pet Program

Washington, March 5 (AP)—House Republicans—in complete charge of home building legislation because of a bloc of southern Democrats—came forward today with their own substitute for the administration's battered down housing bill.

The G.O.P.-Deep South coalition yesterday defeated 161 to 92 what President Truman called the "heart" of his homes-for-veterans program—a provision calling for $600,000,000 in federal subsidies to boost output of scarce building materials without hiking prices.

The same team last week denied the other major administration request—for authority to put ceilings on all existing dwellings.

The Republican bill would deny the government power to clamp price ceilings on new houses as well, this is the one big issue to be settled before the House takes the housing problem over to the Senate.

The housing legislation, after the administration suffered one defeat after another, still embodied these provisions as it came up for final disposition:

1. Priorities for veterans on building materials to construct homes in rural areas as well as cities.

2. Price ceilings for new homes.

3. Authority for the Housing Administrator to issue directives to other government agencies, including O.P.A., on matters related to housing under this provision.

Housing Administrator Wilson W. Watt could tell O.P.A. what price ceilings to put on building materials.

There appeared to be general agreement to write into whatever bill is passed a provision to increase by $1,000,000,000 the government's authority to insure mortgages on new homes.

This ten leaves price ceilings on new homes the only major difference between the Republican bill and the trimmed-down administration measure.

British Oppose U.N.O. Action Against Franco

London, March 5 (AP)—Highly placed sources said today that the British Government has rejected a French suggestion that the question of the Franco regime in Spain be brought before the United Nations Security Council.

These sources said the French proposal was made in notes sent last week to Britain, the United States and Russia.

They said Alfred Duff Cooper, British Ambassador to France, submitted the rejection note to the Security Council, and that conversations were continuing in Paris.

The rejection was reportedly based on continued British insistence that the replacement of Generalissimo Francisco Franco as chief of the Spanish state was primarily a problem for the Spanish people and that further "outside influence" would only serve to strengthen Franco.

Preclude Monopoly

Philadelphia, March 5 (AP)—The Federal government is asking the U. S. Supreme Court to set aside the sale of the nation's sleeping car business to a combine of 43 railroads for $75,000,000 on grounds it could create a new monopoly.

Three unsuccessful bidders for the Pullman Company property, yesterday joined the United States in appealing the court-approved sale.

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said today "certain senators, including myself" had been approached by "labor sources" in the idea of a filibuster against the Case Strike Control Bill. "I made very clear," Morse added to reporters, "that I consider a filibuster unconscionable and against the public interest whether applied to the Case Bill or anything else."

British 'Writer Comments On America's 'Highbrows'

By WILLA MARTIN
OF Newsfeatures Writer
New York, March 5 (UP)—Hannen Swaffer, veteran English journalist now visiting in the U. S., thinks America with its restlessness and excitability is wonderful but nothing about the country is more incredible to him than the lowbrows who pretend to be highbrows.

"In England a person is intellectual or he isn't," he says, "if he is a lowbrow, he has no trafficking with culture. But you have thousands of people in America who like to pretend. The pretenders carry books they don't read, ask questions about things they are not interested in."

Swaffer is tall, gaunt, 66, and a veteran of 40 years in first-class English publications. "The People," with a circulation of five and a half million; "The Daily Herald," official paper of the Labor Party with one and three quarters million; and "John Bull," a weekly with one and a half million.

Shifts to Politics

For years Hannen Swaffer was considered England's leading drama critic, but today his love of the theatre is being submerged in a zeal for the work of the English Labor Party. Now he is interested only in plays with a political point of view. Eschewing "Hamlet" and "Antigone" and even musicals on this trip he has concentrated on "Anna Lucasta" with its all-Negro cast, "State of the Union" with its satire on politics, "Born Yesterday" with its story of bribery of a Congressman, "A Magnificent Yankee," which concerns a progressive New Englander, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

American Overwrite

The elderly journalist has found all of these "vital" though he thinks American playwrights tend to overwrite and go on with love interest and trick endings after the play actually is over.

Confident that he knows more about England than any other English journalist, he is busy reading American authors. Swaffer thinks more readable and worthwhile popular fiction is published here than in England. He considers Louis Bromfield the best American author of popular fiction. Sinclair Lewis a great satirist, his "Babbalanza" one of the great novels of all times.

Drama in Every Street

To him, "it is exciting to read American books and find in them revelations of life I have never seen. In America, because of racial mixtures and the lack of assimilation especially in your large cities, there is drama in every street."

Then the man who has been called by George Bernard Shaw "the most remarkable man to walk down Fleet Street in our time" was back talking of his Labor Party's plans.

"It is the first liberal plan the world has ever known. We have abolished privilege and now are doing away with poverty, you know. We have plans for roads, parks, education. It is a spiritual resurgence of the British people. If this program fails—it should take five years—England will go completely Communist."

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Paris, March 5—Will Generalissimo Francisco Franco capitulate to demands for a democratic form of government in Spain or will it take another terrible civil war to settle the issue?

When I made a survey of the situation in Madrid a month ago it seemed clear that Franco recognized his dictatorship was doomed by Allied opposition and that he was maneuvering for a graceful, face-saving exit from the rank of chief of state. I believe that he had hopes for retaining command of the Spanish army under a restoration of the monarchy, although this obviously would leave him open to a charge of trying to control the new government through his military strength.

The signs are that the generalissimo still is maneuvering for a compromise. Be that as it may, this is a tense moment for Europe, because it wouldn't take much to set the civil conflict of 1936-39 in motion again.

Militarily Franco's position is far more powerful than it was when he unseated the Republican government in 1939. He has a record of horror and established his dictatorship. He has had plenty of time to consolidate his ground and he hasn't neglected the military side.

The Spanish standing army is estimated at 700,000 men and while it is equipped mainly with light arms that's a lot of strength numerically. Moreover, Franco has been building highways and bridges which may have been designed for peaceful purposes but which would be invaluable for the quick movement of troops and supplies. In the vicinity of Madrid I saw many concrete redoubts which commanded the highway leading to the capital. Obviously the generalissimo has anticipated the contingency of further civil war. It is equally clear he has had in mind that he who controls the army controls Spain.

As for an expression of public sentiment in Spain, you could hold your ear to the ground until frost-bitten without hearing very much worth while.

However, there are two things which the people certainly desire. They want an absolutely free national election at which they may choose their own form of government, and they want to achieve that election without another civil war.

That presents a delicate problem for the Allies, because, while a firm hand is needed, obviously a wrong move might precipitate a tragedy.

The situation reminds me of a circumstance I encounter each summer while camping out in the great Maine woods on fishing expeditions. Everywhere you see signs warning you not to be careless about throwing away lighted matches or cigarettes as they may start a forest fire. You could cause an awful conflagration by flipping a match into the Spanish tinder right now.

CUSTOM BARS WOMEN

Women are not allowed within the lobby of the Parliament House in Queensland, Australia, and when a member recently ushered his wife to a seat he was told she was "out of bounds." He demanded that the parliamentary rule barring women be quoted and the Speaker was stumped. After long search of the records, the only reason he could give was that "it has been the practice for years."

BABY BORN AT SEA

A girl from Belfast, Northern Ireland, widow of an airman killed overseas, gave birth to a boy on the steamer Cambria, while on her way to Liverpool, England. Successful delivery of the child was due to the skill of a stewardess, Mrs. J. Dyer, a former St. John Ambulance nurse, who said: "I once helped at a birth in an air shelter, but in a tiny cabin it was even more of a test. The bonnie boy, seven pounds, was named John Cambria Wright."

Rose Schatzel Wallops 589 In Annual Gotham Tourney

Local Female Ace Takes Lead in Class A Journal-American Singles Play

Blasting out a sizzling 227 in her opening game, Rose Schatzel proceeded to establish a new high single score in the Class A singles of the Journal-American bowling tournament in New York city Sunday when she wound up with a hefty 589 triple. Mrs. Schatzel's other scores were 174 and 187. With only one more week-end left in the annual Gotham tourney, Mrs. Schatzel's 589 triple stands an excellent chance of remaining on the top. The new high score registered by the local female star soared over the previous high of 584 posted by Jane Fox of New Jersey. The Jones Dair-Ettes, with Rose Schatzel, Doris Wolf, Marge Janzen, Etta Cindler and Marge Anderson, posted 2330 in the team event.

Dempsey Is Named Head of Promoters' Group in Boxing

Critics Say Mauler's New Job Makes Him Judge Landis of Ring; Salary Is High

New York, March 5 (AP)—Jack Dempsey came back to the fight game's big-time today with a job that boxing promoters he'll work with said would make him sort of a Judge Landis of the beat-busting business—outside of New York. His salary is estimated at between $80,000 to $100,000 yearly.

Of course, none of the promoters stood up in meeting to say Promoter Mike Jacobs in connection with the Old Manassa Mauler's new combined spot as president of Boxing Promoters of America, Inc., and a director of Adams Hat Company in charge of public relations, sports activities and possibly snapping brims. But reading the script, you didn't need a blueprint to get somewhat of an idea about it.

As matter of fact, Jack, himself, came closer than anyone to speaking a piece concerning the possibility of buckling Uncle Mike in the nose-mashing industry.

"Today, in New York," he contended yesterday during the cocktail and hors d'oeuvres ceremonies announcing his new posts, "if you don't fight for one man, you don't fight."

His job will be chiefly to select, for broadcast purposes each Monday, the "fight of the week" among the shows scheduled by the Members of Promoters, Inc. That's one of the big parts of his deal with the hat outfit, which will provide his fancy salary, for a reported six years.

In addition, the promoters announced, he will (a) assist in making matches (b) advise promoters against matches that interest of boxing and (c) aid boxers who are deserving of a chance to fight for the championship, but who for some reason or another are denied their rightful opportunity.

Promoters, Inc. is closely knit now in Boston, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Des Moines. Jack, himself, leaves today for California to see about auctioning members on the Pacific coast.

Sarasota, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Manager Joe Cronin knows just how to make practice drills attractive to his Boston Red Soxers. He lets them hit, hit and hit. Yesterday they had almost four hours of steady clouting and slugger Ted Williams, who loves it most of all, got up from a sickbed to join in the fun.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees' Big Three—President Larry MacPhail, Manager Joe McCarthy and farm boss George Weiss—are conferring on which players to keep in the camp here and at Bradenton, across the gulf. It was believed the three chiefs also were discussing possible trades in order to get hurling help for McCarthy. The Yanks manager was cheered on his arrival here over the glowing reports about catcher Bill Dickey. The veteran has been one of the hardest workers at this base and Coach Johnny Neun says he looks as good as ever.

Miami, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Rookie members of the New York Giants are wondering what keeps Dick Bartell going. The 39-year-old veteran infielder is the hardest working player in the camp and still is the same old pepper-pot. Bartell wants a playing berth instead of coaching job.

Robinson Is Quizzed
Daytona Beach, Fla., March 5 (AP)—After answering questions from newspapermen and posing for photographers yesterday, Jackie Robinson, the former U.C.L.A. Negro baseball and football star, was set to get a real workout today. Robinson and John Wright, a Negro pitcher, made their joint training debut with the Brooklyn Montclair groups.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal pitchers struck out 14 of their teammates and allowed only 12 hits and one run in an intra-squad game Monday. Right-handers Red Garrett and Freddie Martin allowed only one hit in three inning stints.

Lakeland, Fla., March 5 (AP)—The World Champion Detroit Tigers worked for newsreel cameras for two hours yesterday and then participated in a light fielding and baserunning session in preparation for their Grapefruit League opener with the Washington Senators Thursday.

Bowling

Independent League

Stone Ridge maintained its four-game lead in the Independent League Monday night by taking two of its three games from Jump's Market at the Central Rec. Alleys. Tommy Costello shot a 571 triple for Jump's, while Ed Muller rolled a 212 single.

Martin's Market took two from Wilder's, which enabled them to hold onto third place. Ro Post had a 237 single, while Ward DuBois put a pair of 200's together mixed with a 193 to give him 588. Callanan's won two from Cole's. Harry Wells took high triple honors with 567. Jack Parslow took care of the single department with a 224.

In The Pocket

CHARLIE FIANO

Echoes of a great week-end in bowling: Congratulations to George Robinson for his magnificent showing in the K.B.A. tournament and Van Kleec's-Jones Dairy Hudson Valley League struggle. For sheer dramatic intensity, the Saturday night all-local duel between Van's and Joneses was the greatest in Kingston bowling annals.

George "Curly" Flemings repaired his prestige with a hot-hand in the all-events.—You'll never see a more dramatic finish than Van Kleec's 10th frame windup against the dairymen.—Cliff Quick, Charlie Grunewald and George Robinson struck out to ice the game.

The jam-packed house roared its approval.—It was strictly a pro-Van Kleec audience.—The keggers battered alleys 9 and 10 like they owned them. The guy who does own them didn't do so well.—Reports the alleys were tough were strictly rumor—at least for a night.

The brilliant exhibition was a credit to both teams. Jones Dairy was going no place in the league race, but it rolled as if the title was at stake. The fact that they outrolled Van's in total pinage was evidence of their unremitting warfare. Just in case you haven't realized it up to now, Ad Jones seems to do pretty well when the heat is on.

Better Bowling By Billy Sixty

Some petty stuff broke loose during the match. When aces are fast and the desire to win is consuming, those things will happen. But over the long run, the breaks even up. Bickering between rival players is definitely in bad taste. Meanwhile fans are morally obligated to keep their rooting impersonal. This wasn't true Saturday night.

Bowling can do very well without the kind of stuff. If you want to roll for a new team, that is your prerogative. The war was fought and won for freedom of expression. But lay off individuals. It makes for bad blood which in turn creates unpleasant situations.

Tony Sparando removed any doubts about his current bowling form yesterday when he pounded a rousing 911 4-game total to pull down first place in the Wilmington sweepstakes. . . . The Who's Who of bowling competed in that one.

Andy Varrappa must be burned to a fare-thee-well. . . . One pin cost him $1,500. . . . This week-end he and Sparando will be doubles partners against Joe Wilman and Junie McMahon in a 24-game doubles test for $2,500.

"Stooge" Robinson is the Bowler of the Year in our book. . . . Max Chirlin, Fred Rice and Ad Jones cleaned up difficult spares in the heat of the tournament. . . . Randy Kelder, who is about to leave for another town, has completely changed his style of delivery. . . . Now relies on a slow, steady, better results.

With the elbows against and inside the hips (turned inward), the ball held comfortably away, in front of the body, the fingerholes will always be TOWARD the body (behind the ball) and the hand will be fitted into them well toward the lower side of the ball. At the end of the forward swing the hand will thus be in position to control the ball—to turn to the right for a reverse, to send the ball straight, or to turn to the left for a hook.

After the ball has been pushed away, and only if it has been pushed out far enough, the weight of the ball FALLS the body down into a crouch. . . . The position during the stride and the arm swings back in a STRAIGHT line—the line of controlled action.

With the elbows against and inside the hips (turned inward), the ball held comfortably away, in front of the body, the fingerholes will always be TOWARD the body (behind the ball) and the hand will be fitted into them well toward the lower side of the ball. At the end of the forward swing the hand will thus be in position to control the ball—to turn to the right for a reverse, to send the ball straight, or to turn to the left for a hook.

City tournament keggers rolled the singles and doubles as if they were chasing engines. . . . Let's slow it up next year, fellows. That kind of stuff is bad for the heart. . . . Ward DuBois and his sweetheart went into truntnuts in the 10th frame when Ad Jones and George Flemings were threatening his 1233 doubles lead. . . . It was a classic and understandable example of jumping nerves. . . . We are happy to report that Ward survived the ordeal in pretty fair shape.

Charlie Manfro did more sweating than any five B-17 ground crews—But, alas, to no avail! That ogre Robinson came along to snatch fame and fortune from right under his palpitating whiskers in the very last squad. . . . But it was a nice show, anyway, Charlie, and we're proud of your 633 singles!

The undefeated Kerhonkson Farmers won a game in a different way for a change Sunday when Ellenville defaulted a regularly scheduled contest in the Napanoch Institution League. The victory was Kerhonkson's 12th in a row. Thursday night Kerhonkson will meet New Paltz at home and on Saturday, March 9, the Farmers will appear in Saugerties for a return engagement.

Team 3 of the Freeman Bowling League continued on their way for league honors Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. alleys when they took a pair of games from Team 1. Bernie Leahy, the Sawkill terror, posted a 477 triple and 193 to take all honors. Walt (?) Scharp had a 182 and 475 for the league leaders. George Maglie again contributed to the "good and well-fare" of his brother bowlers.

Team 4, led by Knute Beichert with a 191 single and 485 triple took all three games from the fast-slipping Team 2. Nick Huber had a 422 for the losers. It is understood that Irwin Thomas threatened to dispose of his bowling shoes after that terrific 97.

Two Performances Are Scheduled for Uncle Tom's Cabin
The Reed Lawton Players will present two performances of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Kingston today under the sponsorship of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion.

This venerable classic of the American stage will be depicted as a serious, all-musical production in a matinee performance for school children at 3:30 and the main showing at 8:15 p. m. in the municipal auditorium.

Featuring a cast of distinguished performers, including Mr. Lawton and Mario Cozzi, of Metropolitan Opera fame, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is a melange of Stephen Foster melodies, old-time musical acts and straight drama. The show is embellished by an a cappella choir and brass band.

Play Still Potent
The significance of the play is just as potent today as it was 93 years ago, when Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote it and set a nation aflame. The Lawton players have scored sensational hits all over the country with their straight forward dramatic and musical interpretation.

Supporting Lawton and Mario Cozzi are Dorothy Hood, Wade Dent, Eileen Kelly and a host of capable performers.

Since Legree, who auctioned off Uncle Tom for $1,000 will be faithfully portrayed along with Uncle Tom, Little Eva, Ophelia St. Clare, Lawyer Marks, Augustine St. Clare.

By combining the Stowe classic with the immortal American grass-roots melodies of Stephen Foster this production depicts a truly historic chapter in the life of America and make it possible for everyone to see again this world-renowned play and enjoy the nostalgic music.

Ten-Year Vigil Is Hinted in Newest De-Nazifying Code
Berlin, March 5 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, deputy chief of the U. S. Military Government, announced today a sweeping new de-Nazification law placing in German hands more responsibility for purging the nation and indicating a commitment for Americans to remain in Germany at least 10 years.

Gen. Clay estimated that at least 1,000,000 and perhaps 4,000,000 of the 13,000,000 Germans in the American zone will be subject to punishment under the new law, which was drawn up by three German provincial minister-presidents in the zone for trial of the cases by German courts.

The law specifies varying degrees of guilt for all Germans who aided Hitler, ranging from major offenders to minor cases classified as "followers." Major offenders are liable to as much as 10 years in a labor camp, confiscation of property and loss of all rights for a minimum of 10 years, including the right to own an automobile. The minimum sentence for major offenders is two years.

Full Retribution
Gen. Clay said the American Military Government was determined to see that the sentences were carried out. Asked if this meant the Americans definitely intended to stay in Germany, he replied:

"As far as the Military Government can commit the United States, yes."

Major offenders are defined as those who out of political motives committed crimes against victims or opponents of National Socialism, were responsible for outrages, or gave major political, economic, propagandistic or other support to Nazism.

Clay estimated that at least a year will be required to carry out the trials. While Germans themselves will do the prosecuting, Clay emphasized that the proceedings will be checked closely to see that there is no leniency in applying the law.

A preview of spring which has been staged in Kingston since the first of the month reached a new high on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the official city thermometer recorded 61 degrees. This morning the thermometer was recording 42 degrees at 9 o'clock.

Legislative Roundup
Albany, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—The race against the Thursday deadline for introduction of measures and the scheduled adjournment on March 23.

Legislation continuing New York city commercial rent control for one year beyond its July 1 expiration date was sponsored by the joint legislative committee studying rents. Several amendments were offered. The principal one would exclude all new construction from rent control.

Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, committee chairman, said a bill providing for state control of residential rents would be introduced later. It would take effect when O.P.A. control was ended.

The Legislative Bipartisan veterans Committee meets today to put the final touches on a bill that would give New York state war veterans of World War 2 cash bonuses ranging from $50 to $250, depending on the type and length of service.

The committee will submit a preliminary report tomorrow and a final report next week. Senator William F. Condon of Yonkers, chairman, said the committee would ask the legislature next week to continue its life for another year.

Lent Arrives Late This First Peacetime Year
Millions of families all over the country will be observing Lent in the usual way, beginning with Ash Wednesday, March 6 and finishing up with Easter Sunday, April 21.

These 40 days of Lent are most important to the folks who observe this special season . . . especially from the angle of the dietary laws which will prevail.

Housewives all over the country begin to prepare special fish dishes and do extra deep-frying in connection with the Lenten menu. Extra amounts of salads are eaten and certain collations are adhered to very strictly.

Especially in connection with the observance of Lent, there is usually an oily, smelly residue left on the plate. Housewives of old, the busy grease-disposing cleaner, is ideal for cleaning the smelly, fish frying pans, the deep dish frying strainers and skillets, as well as the salad bowls that come in for extra use during Lent and which seem to be constantly smeared with oil and vinegar.
